The third International Court of Justice trial over the suspect:
IV

RESUME

The following reconstructs the operation of the Secret Society women and Homeland Security CO chief against the suspect as well as the associated trial in the International Court of Justice from 15 February to 8 March, 2016. This is a revision, in October and November 2022, of the original “The third ICJ trial, IV”, originally composed from July to September 2016. (The original version, with the file name “prelude_D_4k.pdf” and last dated 22.07.2017, can still be found in the same folder.)

The Secret Society women consist of (as of February 2016): ANG (G: Angelina Le Beau Visage), KRN (J: Kiersten), SDW (Maura), Dr P (Petterson), and the German Lady (K: Karin/ Carine). They have at their disposal a large online group of, by now, around 60,000 volunteers from around the world, all devoted to watching over, discussing, and reporting on the suspect: the largest gang-stalking enterprise in the history of humankind.

In the previous chapter we have seen how Homeland Security CO chief has foundered: he wanted to his false profile of the suspect to convict Russia in order to make a name for himself among the national security Establishment (while obstructing the CIA’s project), but, instead, he has got himself convicted by the Russians because of his false profile of the suspect and consequently, as shall be seen, become a curse for the national security Establishment.

The battle in the ICJ has thus returned to its original configuration before Homeland Security CO chief’s strange stunt, with a minor twist: whereas the Russians and their French allies are trying to prove that Homeland Security CO chief and the Secret Society women are right about the suspect in order to keep the conviction of Homeland Security CO chief and NULND while locking up the previous ICJ trial, the CIA is trying to prove that this idiot and his star witnesses are wrong about the suspect in order to remove this conviction while reactivating the previous ICJ trial. Meanwhile, the CIA has also started elaborating upon their more accurate profile of the suspect by stating that the suspect, a perennial Russia-lover, wants to help Russia with his fake terrorist status by pretending to want to harm Russia and every one of its allies around the world. (Thus another reason why the conviction of Homeland Security CO chief and NULND should be removed.) Now it is within this period that the Secret Society women would give up on their case with Authority Y (and then Z) and open a new case against the suspect with the Secret Service. Trump’s campaign would thus become involved.

Here are the essentials for the period under consideration:

15.02: as Authority Y is ready to dismiss the Homeland Security warning, the Russian side creates evidence for the ICJ by using faulty surveillance to confuse the suspect with “Britt”.

16.02: the Secret Society women try desperately to save the Homeland Security warning with Authority Y by looking online for of the suspect’s former “delusions” about them and falsely reporting on his plagiarism.

17.02: the Secret Society women continue to report on the suspect’s supposed plagiarism in their desperate effort to save the Homeland Security warning with Authority Y.

18.02: in order to save the warning in question and create temporary evidence for the Russians in the ICJ, KRN reposts her fake review of herself at Dating Psychos. The Boss’ family also intervenes. Meanwhile, the Secret Society women continue to mobilize volunteers to persuade Authority Y that the suspect did plagiarize.

19.02: as the Russians desperately try to prevent the reactivation of the previous ICJ trial, the suspect’s conversation with W today is evidence that Homeland Security is right about him. However, the CIA has also obtained evidence that’s in their favor from this conversation.

20.02: the Secret Society women continue to brainstorm how to report the suspect for plagiarism (to save the Homeland Security warning). The suspect uses Telecomix, which might be the Russians’ temporary evidence in the ICJ.

21.02: the Secret Society women try one more time to convince Authority Y that the suspect has indeed plagiarized. They ask Eva for help again. Past 3 PM, they even send in the Berlin Plagiarizer to forge evidence again.

22.02: in the morning, the Secret Society women try one more time to convince Authority Y that the suspect did plagiarize.

23.02: from 3 to 4 PM, the Secret Society women make one more appeal to Authority Y guaranteeing to him that the suspect did plagiarize. Nevertheless, Authority Y definitively dismisses the Homeland Security warning. From 11 PM onward, the women gang (especially Ekaterina) brainstorm with volunteers about how to prove that the suspect has indeed been delusional (about being chipped in the brain and gone after by them) and stolen other people’s artworks.

24.02: early morning, the Secret Society women try one more time to save the Homeland Security warning with Authority Y by submitting new evidence of the suspect’s theft of his drawings from his family members, but Authority Y still rejects the appeal. To save themselves in the ICJ, the Russians order Homeland Security to order the Secret Society women’s volunteers to make a complaint about the suspect’s violation of intellectual property rights to Youtube.

25.02: morning, the Secret Society women complain about Authority Y’s misconduct to Authority Z. The suspect’s conversation with RD convinces Authority Z that the Homeland Security warning is invalid. Did the Russians succeed in getting the MSS to also become the suspect’s victim and a party to the ICJ trial?

26.02: morning, the Secret Society women try one more time to convince Authority Z that the suspect did plagiarize.

27.02: morning, the Secret Society women try one more time to save the Homeland Security warning with Authority Z by emphasizing how the suspect has committed fraud with his artworks. Then the suspect's conversation with W in the afternoon is the Russians' evidence of his insanity to enable them to lock up the previous ICJ trial for the time being.

28.02: throughout the day, the Secret Society women continue to brainstorm how to convince Authority Z. The Russians save themselves in the ICJ only through the suspect's postings on AVFM.

29.02: no more case with Authority Z, the Russians order Homeland Security CO chief to remotely control the suspect to post on Donald Trump's Facebook and sign up for volunteer opportunities on his website.

01.03: the Secret Society women begin reporting the suspect to the Secret Service and the Trump campaign, and Russia is thus saved in the ICJ. Mike is activated and instructed to approach the suspect during Forum.

02.03: the Secret Society women continue to report the suspect's plagiarism to the Secret Service. The "weird fat white guy" begins showing up.

03.03: the Secret Society women continue to report the suspect's plagiarism to the Secret Service.

04.03: the Secret Society women continue to report the suspect's plagiarism to the Secret Service.

05.03: while continuing to report on the suspect's plagiarism, the Secret Society women also report that the suspect has developed bizarre delusions about the Great Boss and other sorts of government conspiracies. (Did the Boss' family intervene again?)

06.03: to confirm for the Secret Service that Homeland Security is right about the suspect, the Secret Society women make one single report about the suspect's theft of his drawing from his aunt Jennifer. Then, the suspect's conversation with W provides the Secret Service with definitive reasons to dismiss the Homeland Security warning. It's also evidence in favor of the CIA in the ICJ.

07.03: shocked by the Secret Service's decision, the Secret Society women attempt to save the Homeland Security warning by emphasizing how the suspect does plagiarize, does imagine them going after him, and does believe he's chipped in the brain.

08.03: 10:30 – 11:30 PM, the Secret Society women, in order to save the Homeland Security warning with the Secret Service, instruct the same Sydney volunteer to report on the suspect's Prison Planet Forum postings (his delusions about being chipped in the brain and gone after by them). They also instruct two more volunteers to report on the suspect's supposed plagiarism and violation of his family members' privacy.

15 February (Monday; the German Lady's meetup)

First, let's look at the suspect. 12 AM, before he goes to bed, he downloads many of S Snitzer's Talk Shoe program recordings. He is looking for SDW's participation in them, but finds none. It's not clear whether the Russians and the FN would submit the surveillance of the suspect's doing to the ICJ as evidence confirming his conformity to Homeland Security's false profile of him (that he is indeed cyberstalking the Secret Society women). The suspect wouldn't fall asleep until 4 AM. He wakes up past 12 PM. At the bus stop, 1:30 PM. There is no bus. Today turns out to be a holiday. On the bus, 2 PM. He ends up in Bru-Coffee. At one point, he's scolded and complained about by patrons of the gymnasium next door for smoking on the sidewalks. He works quietly in Bru-Coffee until 8 PM. Skylight. Jons: chickens. 9 PM, he is going home. An uneventful day.

Now let's look at the Secret Society women's operation on the suspect's website for today. After almost three and half hours, the Secret Society women resume operation. 6:02 AM, staticip.rima-tde.net, Madrid, Spain.

Le Département de la Sécurité Intérieure est dirigé par les marionnettistes, pas par ses sous de ne pas se soumettre au dictat de la finance internationale, c'est pourquoi moi aussi je les

This is evidently a false testimony to Authority Y saying the suspect has plagiarized his theory on linear perspective. The fact that volunteers from Iran would have at this point rejoined the Secret Society women's operations might be significant. (The last time when a volunteer came from Iran was 8 January (perspective2.jpg), and, before that, 25 December (evolutionofsynapsid2.gif) and 22 December (perspective1.jpg).) Iran is now comfortably back on the old track of maintaining that Homeland Security has always been right about the suspect (now that Homeland Security is no longer an enemy of Russia).

Then, 4:24 AM, in the thread "Marine est contre les racistes...", a certain "Britt" suddenly posts a reply to the suspect, "je suis raciste".

Fidèle au FN depuis plus de 25 ans, à Marine biensûr actuellement, et adhérente au parti, je me sens oui, raciste au plus profond de moi-même. (Désolée Marine!) [Crying or Very Sad] Bien entendu, je ne ferai jamais un geste déplacé ou ne dirai une parole de travers vis à vis de tous ceux qui ont envahi notre pays, (surtout ceux venant du maghreb, envers lesquels j'éprouve une grosse allergie...!) Tous ces gens là, je les ignore c'est tout ! et je crie haut et fort: La France aux Français!

– Je n'ai rien contre tous ceux qui viennent étudier chez nous, à la condition qu'ils rentrent chez eux après!

- rien non plus, contre tous ceux qui viennent chez nous en touriste, oui en touriste point barre.
 - Je suis contre, tous ceux qui sont arrivés et qui continuent de venir dans le but de toucher des aides financières de toutes sortes alors que nous français, pour une grande majorité, n’avons droit à rien!
 - marre que beaucoup d’entre-eux sont logés dans des pavillons alors que des familles françaises doivent se contenter d’un quelconque logement dans une ‘cage à poules’ (j’ai eu le cas dans ma famille)
 - marre de toutes ces mosquées qui poussent dans nos paysages comme des champignons
 - marre de toute cette violence gratuite apportée en grande majorité par ces gens là
 - et marre de toujours devoir payer, payer, payer, parce que je suis de souche française!!
- Un français a du sang français de par ses parents et ses ancêtres. Tous les autres, ces ‘soi-disant français’, ne le sont que par papier.

Recall that, late night 31 January, when the suspect had posted a short message here, nobody dared to reply, fearing “conspiracy with a terrorist”. Now that the table has been turned, those Partisans can reply. And what a reply! An open admission of his racism. The reply cannot be unrelated to the current battle at the ICJ. Evidently, now that the Russians and the FN are authorized to use, for their own benefits, the same techniques which Homeland Security CO chief has used, i.e. to use faulty surveillance to create faulty evidence to confirm his demonic profile of the suspect as correct, they thus instruct one of the Partisans to post a racist message so that, while the CIA continues to bring into the ICJ evidence that Homeland Security is wrong about the suspect, the Russian side can have evidence that Homeland Security has always been right about the suspect (that he’s indeed a racist bigot). (This, to both lock up the previous ICJ trial and maintain the conviction of Homeland Security CO chief and NULND in the current ICJ trial.)

Then, 5:15 AM, another “Chanisie” posts a reply to “Britt”: “It’s okay.”

Then, 7:34 AM, another “Kabout” posts a reply to Britt:

Ne vous inquiétez pas, être raciste est devenu normal vu ce que l’on subit aux fils des années, et il n’y a rien de mal à ça, être raciste pour nous reste un sentiment, une façon de penser, tandis que les autres qui viennent chez nous ou y naissent et se disent ‘Français’ il y en a qui sont racistes envers les Français et passent aux actes, mais pour eux ce n’est rien, ils sont pardonnés, mais pour un Français être raciste c’est une horreur, une condamnation.

A typical rightwing complaint about double-standard. Again, the discussion must have been confused as the suspect’s in the evidentiary record of the ICJ.

Then, 9:08 AM, Britt posts a reply:

Merci Chanisie et merci Kabout.

Comme vous dites Kabout, être raciste est devenu normal et avec toutes ces nouvelles venues dans notre pays, cela ne va pas s’arranger je pense. Pourtant nous n’avons pas le droit de dire que nous sommes raciste, la liberté d’expression n’existant pratiquement plus dans notre pays, et pourtant, ce ne sont quand même pas ces incapables au gouvernement qui vont nous dicter notre façon de penser ou de voir les choses n’est-ce pas?

Moi tout cela m’écoeure et j’ai bien peur d’ailleurs concernant l’avenir des prochaines générations, en l’occurrence mes petits enfants...

Pareil pour les ‘races’ l’autre jour lorsque Nadine Morano avait ‘osé’ parler de races... eh bien moi je continuerai à parler de races, c’est ce que j’ai appris à l’école qu’il y avait quatre races et je ne vois pas pourquoi cela changerait. Mais où allons nous franchement? Et surtout pourquoi certains français restent aussi bouchés en continuant de voter pour ces rigolos qui nous dirigent...

Certainly, in the evidentiary record of the ICJ, “Britt” has become the suspect.

This is the last visit for today from the Secret Society women. As you have seen, the Secret Society women continue to report to Authority Y saying the suspect has indeed plagiarized as well as developed bizarre delusion about their going after him – one last desperate attempt to persuade Authority Y to not dismiss the Homeland Security warning about the suspect. Out of 11 visits to the suspect’s non-existent website, 6 have come from Bing. 13 visits in total today.

Now let’s look at the suspect. He wakes up past noon. On the bus, 1:30 PM. Storage, past 3 PM. He puts in DVD-513. Then, Starbucks, Vermont/ Prospect, past 6 PM. 7 PM, he’s going to the Forum. Stephanie is there, but when she tries to greet the suspect, the suspect ignores her. He leaves, almost 9 PM.

Home. 1:17 AM, the suspect posts a “Trump” comment on Partisans (a reply to CoqGaulois).

Le parti républicain américain est divisé en les néoconservateurs (qui aujourd’hui dominent le parti) et les paléoconservateurs. Je croirais que Trump, bien qu’avant il n’a jamais participé à la politique, est plus proche des paléoconservateurs. De plus, il n’a jamais été invité par le groupe Bilderberg, il est donc un étranger à tout processus de la ‘finance internationale’ dont tu parles. Pour cette raison, il peut bien être un cible.

Then, within 17 minutes, 1:34 AM, CoqGaulois posts a last reply to the suspect’s “Trump” comment. Is this an operation?

Then, the suspect works all night long on “Supplemental Pleading 10-123” (“The creation of autism...” DOC-1). He finally finishes it and uploads it to his website.

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV
Lawrence C Chin
Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

Site Lock will from now on send a robot to the suspect's non-existent website daily. Always around the same time. For a long time to come, the suspect will erroneously suspect that this has something to do with the Interpol's (actually, Authority Y's) checking of the suspect's website on the night of the 11th. Could it be that, since the Secret Society women have continued to insist that 2011.com still exists, the Interpol (actually, Authority Y) has set up an automatic system to verify that it doesn't exist anymore? (Not.)

Then, 3:44 AM, the suspect discovers Wen Ho Lee's website, and, strangely, a message "1" pops up. What's going on?

You certainly cannot avoid the impression that this has something to do with the fact that the suspect, since a while ago, has inserted "Esoteric: 1" at the bottom of his 1998.com, that is, an esoteric message telling his visitors that, if they add "1.html" to the domain name, they will be able to access "The Secret History". In other words, it would appear that evidence is at this moment being taken into the ICJ showing the suspect to be engaged in secret communication with Wen Ho Lee, somebody thought to be a Chinese spy. It thus seems that, while the CIA is trying to get rid of the conviction of Homeland Security CO chief and NULND by proving the Homeland Security profile of the suspect to be false, the Russians have an interest in bringing China into the trial on their side. This is then the trick they have supposedly used: they command Homeland Security to inject this pop-up message "1" into Wen Ho Lee's website – after seeing from the computer inside the control center that the suspect is about to search for Wen Ho Lee online – in order to impress upon the suspect that somebody is trying to frame him for doing espionage for China. The computer has predicted that the suspect would, given his impression, do something to give China cause to come into this ICJ trial as well. (Again, the Russians are employing, now to benefit themselves, a technique which Homeland Security has earlier employed to harm them.)

17 February (Wednesday; SSW busy 5 – 11 PM)

First, let's look at the suspect. After finishing up "Supplemental Pleading-10", he is unable to sleep at all. 7 AM or so, McDonald's. Home. MST (Hispanic). Then he watches "Saipan". Then, past 11 AM, he falls asleep. He wakes up past 1 PM. He has been deciding whether to go to the airport (he needs to ask some questions in order to assess the feasibility of his "escape plan") and has completely forgotten that he has an appointment at Edelman today. On the bus, 1:30 PM. Public library, downtown, almost 3 PM. He charges his laptop. Then, he's going to the airport. China Airline is not open yet. Finally, by 6 PM, he is able to chat with a Fiji Airline personnel. He obtains the answer to his question: the airline doesn't check whether passengers are on probation. He then comes home. Past 1 AM, he's reading "Feminism Without Borders". FPOE TV. He wouldn't fall asleep until past 4 AM.

Now the Secret Society women's operation on the suspect's website. After 11 hours, the women resume operation. 8:08 AM, Laser Company Ltd, Bandar-e Anzali, Iran, 93.110.213.192 - - [17/Feb/2016:09:08:56 -0700] "GET /badvisits/5712-43.png HTTP/1.1" 404 614 "https://www.google.com" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 5.1; rv:44.0) Gecko/20100101 Firefox/44.0"

Just like yesterday, the first volunteer comes from Iran. It's a false testimony either about the suspect's cyberstalking using his visitors' log or how he keeps mistaking the visits to his website for his women victims'.

8:11 AM, "Text4U" sends the suspect a job offer via ProZ: 213.57.42.108, hotnet.net.il, Yehud, Israel. Recall that the last time that the Secret Society women did this was 11 February. Usually, when the Secret Society women do this, it's because they want to turn in the "David Chin" document as evidence but then would have to prove that the suspect's ProZ account is still active. Since the suspect didn't respond the last time, the women have to try again.¹

Then, 8:20 AM, the Stuttgart volunteer from yesterday:

109.42.1.64 - - [17/Feb/2016:09:20:32 -0700] "GET /scientificenlightenment1/magicsquare.html HTTP/1.1" 304 162 "-" "Mozilla/5.0 (Linux; Android 5.0; SAMSUNG SM-G900FD Build/LRX21T)"

¹ This interpretation is from the original version. Currently we aren't totally sure whether this "Text4U" is indeed part of the Secret Society women's operation. In the original version, we continue like this: "Of course, had the suspect responded, it might also be evidence that he has connections with foreign agents. Such evidence would now be in Russia's favor. Note also that "Text4U" might have connection with the several active members of the Secret Society from Israel whom we have seen in the past, e.g. the Israelite guy from 10 October and 4 and 6 November, the scientist from Weizmann Institute seen on 28 December, the Israelite hacker seen on 30 December, and the Ramat Gan person seen on 7 February."

Again, no other components are showing. Presumably he's here to brainstorm.

10:47 AM, the suspect receives an email from Bluehost/ Sitelock. (Presumably unrelated to the Secret Society women's operation.)

Around today, KRN would repost the negative review of herself at datingpsychos.com. Obviously, this is to convince Authority Y that the suspect is still harassing her online (as a way to save the Homeland Security warning, and her “victim status”, with them): “As you can see, after Dating Psychos has removed the negative post about me at my request, he has posted it up again – because he is so obsessed with me and can't wait to share with the world his sexual fantasies about me." In reality, of course, it's KRN who doesn't want to cease sharing with the world her fantasy about being the prey of mankind's sexual aggression.

Authority Y has presumably already known that it is KRN herself who has posted this nasty review, and that it is she again who is now reposting it. Meanwhile, the Russians would however use this as evidence to confirm in the ICJ that Homeland Security's false profile of the suspect is correct (in order to lock up the previous ICJ trial for the time being despite Authority Y's expressed inclination to dismiss the warning in question).

Now after five and a half hours, the Secret Society women resume operation. 5:40 AM, they send a volunteer to the suspect's new domain: PT Telkom Indonesia, Bogof, Indonesia,

This “amaicookie1” is evidently one of the Secret Society women’s volunteers in Japan. Presumably it’s because the Homeland Security warning is in trouble that the Secret Society women now want to send somebody to befriend the suspect as a way to lure some damaging testimonies out of him. The same old trick many times already. The suspect is of course not so stupid as to reply to this volunteer.³

8:03 AM, the Secret Society women send another volunteer to the suspect’s new domain: SaudiNet, Riyadh, Saudi Arabia.

This is the third visit to the suspect’s new domain today and the tenth visit to this (existent or non-existent) image. The purpose is probably to play sleight of hand so as to deceive Authority Y into the impression that 2011.com still exists. Note that the suspect has just traced last night a similar Saudi Arabia IP address in his reconstruction (06.07.14).

8:43 AM, the Secret Society women send a fourth volunteer to the suspect’s new domain: customer.co.ge, Tbilisi, Georgia.

³ Again, because this volunteer is from Japan, we have to wonder whether she’s in fact an informant inside the Secret Society women’s organization.

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV
Lawrence C Chin
Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

Now the Secret Society women will take a long break of ten hours. They are busy with something tonight. Out of 8 visits to the suspect's non-existent website, only three have come from Bing. Four visits to the existent website so far. Thus 12 visits in total today.

Now let's look at the suspect. He wakes up past 11 AM. Not enough sleep. On the bus, 12:30 PM. Kinkos, Little Tokyo, to scan papers. Starbucks. He checks his log. Then, past 4 PM, at the Little Tokyo library. He looks up books on the Nanjing Massacre. Chrysalis, dinner, and men's group. Past 7 PM, Starbucks, downtown. He has discovered "US evangelicals – Russian anti-gay movement". Then he goes home. It's a very uneventful day. 1 AM, the suspect posts on AVFM:

I'm happy to announce that my "script" is going into a new phase. Here is the update.

The suspect has experienced a rebirth. The SS women, with the help of Homeland Security, have re-created him as a "misogynist terrorist" subject to international laws governing terrorism (it's the SS women's expertise to make his breaking of a few random strangers' windows into "terrorism against women") and sent him on a mission to love all the stereotypical anti-liberal forces (Putin, the European far right, Trump, and men's rights) so that all of them can become labeled "terrorist" under international laws. At first, the suspect is hesitant, and all those he loves avoid him like pestilence for fear being so labeled. Now that he is reborn, he loves the SS women and Homeland Security just as Winston loves the Big Brother in the end, and he actively seeks out the anti-liberal forces he has loved. If they pretend to disagree with his endorsements in order to avoid being labeled "terrorist", it's okay, he will simply swallow all their ideologies and regurgitate them as if these had always been his own thinking and preferences. In fact, he is planning to expand his love. He is now going to join the American evangelicals and love them – and become one of them, so that, as every single anti-liberal force becomes defamed through association with him, the world can be consumed in a liberal, leftwing, fire without anybody left to oppose it. The suspect has, after all, originally loved those he loves because they can help save, if not themselves save, humanity. Now that he has been reborn, he wishes there is nobody left who can even help save humanity, and he shall cause himself to be banned from saving humanity as well. He loves the SS women and their Homeland Security masters, and hates this humanity which hates him.

And so, by night, he writes all this down in the same Internet forum, hoping to provide the women with more materials to complain about.

The suspect now finds that, since, whenever he shows interests in, or endorses, a party, that party is doomed to become banned as "terrorist", the best way to neutralize his own harm to all the parties to which he is drawn is to simply spell out beforehand the negative consequences he will bring with him. Make his defamation look "intentional", that is. And so he posts here on AVFM an admission similar to what he has posted on Partisans. However, his true intention can only become the subject of debate in the ICJ. While the Russians must be grabbing onto his post above as evidence to support their claim that the suspect is again using his Homeland Security status as a "terrorist" to harm them and their interests, the CIA will continue to argue in the ICJ that the suspect's intention to harm can't be taken seriously – that he is in fact trying to neutralize his own harm. Although the CIA is correct, the judge computer cannot decide, and the stalemate thus continues. Meanwhile, 4 AM, the suspect discovers Béatrice Bourges. 5 AM, he goes out to eat. When he comes home, he revises his “Political Correctness as Culture Industry” (adds the first paragraph) and saves it in his Gmail account.

Now back to the suspect's websites. 10:45 PM, there is a strange indexing from Baidu (220.181.108.xxx) looking for all removed documents (crawl.baidu.com).

Not sure whether this is a false testimony about the suspect's plagiarism or a decoy. This is the third visit to this (non-existent) image today. The Secret Society women will then take another three and a half hour break. Out of six visits to the suspect's non-existent website, four have come from Bing.

Now let's look at the suspect. He wakes up past 11 AM. He naps around. On the bus, 2:30 PM. 4 PM or so, Miss Li calls. She will come by tomorrow. Storage. The suspect puts in his clothing, etc. Nearby, 5:16 PM, the suspect first talks to Derrick on the phone (1:31:00): he talks about sending him his DD-2020, and then about his "targeting", i.e. how the Homeland Security thugs inside the control center are making sure he conforms to the Secret Society women's psychoanalysis of him. The suspect is then connected up with W (from 1:40:00 onward) – both the Russians and the CIA are waiting for their evidence, now that Authority Y has pretty much dismissed the Homeland Security warning. Here are the details of the conversation. (1) About what has really happened on 16 December. "NULND likes my writing... She first tried to prevent the Russians from making use of it... She then planned to free me... Homeland Security then tried to dissuade NULND... NULND is a nice lady, although not so nice when it comes to Russia..." This is of course completely wrong – the exact opposite of reality. It's presumably the Russians' evidence that the suspect is indeed delusional and keeps on developing delusions and obsessions about famous women. (2) Then about what has happened on 19 December:⁴ Homeland Security remotely controlled him to conform to the Secret Society women's prediction about him ("He is going to shut racist slogans..."). "KRN was using me to stage a show to make herself look like a psychic..." The suspect then wonders: while the police wouldn't know anything about brain-computer interface, NULND would know! How then did Homeland Security dissuade her? Well, they didn't! Ha! (3) About how the suspect is still working out his philosophy further in order to get it banned, and still seeking out what he loves in the world in order to get them all banned (1:52:00). The Russians' evidence that he has indeed conspired with Homeland Security CO chief to harm them and their French allies. (4) About the involvement of American evangelicals in the anti-gay campaign in Russia. The suspect is surprised that Putin actually has allies in the US itself – who are with the Republican party! If Russia projects itself as a Christian nation, the religious right in America will become pro-Russia. (5) More about Ortega y Gasset, how he has prefigured many points in the suspect's current thinking (1:59:00). Especially the idea that people under democracy have been spoiled. Would the Russians use this as evidence to confirm Homeland Security's false profile of the suspect as a plagiarizer? W: "Master Morality, Slave Morality, then modernity comes..." W brings up Aristotle's assertion that the masses are children. The suspect: this is not what Ortega has said. He said the masses have been spoiled, like spoiled children. (6) The suspect talks about his dissatisfaction: the battle against political correctness is everywhere waged by the religious right. But the ideas of the religious right are as much conventional as the political correctness of the left. Only he is attempting what is unconventional – to transcend conventions. If his terrorist conspiracy succeeds, then all he will have accomplished is the prohibition of what is unconventional (the transcendence of the left). What is the point of prohibiting something which no one uses? Then the mundane battle against political correctness will roar on as usual. So, in order to be part of the game, he needs to join the conventional battle against political correctness. Thus he should join the evangelicals! He should join anti-gay campaign in order to make it into “terrorism” (against gay people). But he will be homeless on Monday: is this the right time to join any movement? He needs to join the evangelicals in order to turn them all into “terrorists”. Thus he is disappointed: most people don’t have a functional brain, whether on the left or on the right. Most people know only how to repeat what is conventional, namely what is already there, rather than inventing something new. Again, the Russians and their allies will have to debate with the CIA about whether the harmful intent which the suspect has just manifested here is genuine. (7) The suspect talks about his realization: the European situation is actually different from the American situation. Gender-mainstreaming in Europe. While the purpose of political correctness in America is to decrease male productivity and male brain power in order to encourage brain-import, the purpose of feminism in Europe is to encourage import of entire population to replace the indigenous population. (Excellent viewpoint. However, years later the suspect will have to revise this opinion here.) (8) The suspect bemoans how his genius is wasted: even though he is doing something which no one else can do – discover the shit people are pulling behind his back – nobody else has to do this in any case. This confession might be evidence in favor of the CIA: that the suspect doesn’t really desire to trash his own work. (That he’s just acting in order to help the Russian side.) (9) The suspect recalls: forming anti-xxxxxxx hate groups around the world – what a stupid idea. The Russians will never do that. They are even finding allies in the US, like the evangelicals. Russia has turned “right” because most people are too dumb. The Russians can’t simply invent something new to attract people, but must adopt another, neglected, convention for such end. To establish their brand-name, they must adopt something that is already there rather than inventing something new (like the suspect’s own philosophy based on a thermodynamic interpretation of history). Otherwise people will not understand it. People will not understand anything sophisticated, anything original, like his philosophy that is built on Voegelin, Weber, and Foucault. Excellent viewpoint! All this sounds like favorable evidence for the CIA: that the suspect is quite intellectual and is nothing like Homeland Security’s portrayal of him. (10) The suspect is upset because W is barely paying attention to him. The biggest problem in this world is always the same: people are too dumb. Right! (11) Ortega on the crisis of education. (12) The suspect confesses: “I might be willing to help the Secret Society women and Homeland Security take down their enemy, but I will still want to have my website... Their enemies are: the FN, the Russians, the anti-gay movements, Donald Trump... I am a misogynist racist terrorist...” Now this confession might seem like evidence in favor of the Russians, but the reality is that the women gang will become allies with all these parties the suspect believes they are working against. The suspect then complains: “Really, breaking people’s windows really counts as ‘terrorism’ nowadays... In the past, breaking a window on an abandoned building is just called ‘breaking a window’, now it’s ‘terrorism’, even ‘misogynist terrorism’ even though women have nothing to do with it... What about stuffing empty cigarette boxes into cars’ exhaustion pipes?” The suspect then confesses that he is only lately able to grasp completely how seriously the international community considers his window-breaking. The Partisans are really concerned with him when he goes on their online forums: oh, this guy is a terrorist. Homeland Security has created this terrorist, but then uses him as a patsy to do a lot of wonders... (13) W has no riddles for the suspect today.

After the call, the suspect is still very depressed and sad. He comes to Cafe Mak. 8 PM. He writes an email to W saying he is being framed for conducting espionage for China. He has forgotten to talk about this: because of the pop-up message "1" on Wen Ho Lee's website, the suspect is under the impression that the Secret Society women are framing him for connection with the Chinese intelligence service. (He's wrong.) Almost 9 PM, he's leaving. He misses the 9:28 PM Silver Streak bus. Very upset. 9:34 PM, Derrick sends him his address.

On bus 282, the suspect is severely disturbed by the man chatting loudly with the bus driver. (Sonophobia.) He can't stand the vulgar English. Then, at the Shell gas station near home, he forgets his suit case. He discovers it when reaching home. He walks back to get it. Upset.

Now let's return to the Secret Society women's operation on the suspect's website. 5:44 PM, the Secret Society women send a volunteer to the suspect's new domain: Hughes Network Systems, Grass Valley, California. (Northeast of Sacramento.)

Then, 7:21 PM, the Secret Society women send a volunteer to the suspect's new domain: Mobin Net

This is the sixth time that the Secret Society women want a visit to this (existent) image. And the third time that a volunteer from Iran is carrying out the task. Presumably to brainstorm how to falsely report the suspect for stealing this drawing from his aunt Jennifer. There will be no more activities from the Secret Society women for the rest of the night. The Secret Society women are again busy tonight. Out of 7 visits to the non-existent 2011.com, two have come from Bing. 8 visits in total for today.

Now let's look at the suspect. He wakes up past 1 PM. The landlord, Ms Li, comes with a guest to show her the room. The suspect decides today not to go into town. He would stay home the whole day writing his reconstruction and reading. He discovers Telecomix online. Probably evidence in favor of the Russian side (confirming Homeland Security's false profile of him as a computer-hacker). Night, he searches the Chinese web for "feminism in China". He would read a lot about it tonight. Then, 11:01 PM, Derrick calls the suspect: about getting a room together. Why this all of a sudden? Did the Russians instruct Homeland Security and the Secret Society women to instruct Derrick to try to entrap

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV

the suspect? (But of course nothing will come of it.)

Past midnight, the suspect is on Telecomix again using TOR. All functional but he's not allowed to access its onion IRC chat site. He's not allowed to access Mbbbit either. All blocked by law enforcement? Could it be that the CIA is instructing law enforcement here not to let the suspect further confirm Homeland Security's false profile of him? But, when the suspect downloads IRC clients on both of his computers, they do work. (It would also seem that Telecomix has removed its onion IRC chat site: it's thus not due to law enforcement's blocking). When the suspect goes to bed, he is watching "Kennedy" (his dangerous extra-marital affairs) and then "postmodernism".

Now, late in night, there is this visit, which is presumably not real: 3:52 AM, dynamic.totbb.net, TOT, Chanthaburi, Thailand,

As you have seen, the women gang has been desperately trying to save the Homeland Security warning with Authority Y by arguing that the warning has been at least correct about the suspect's plagiarism.
Now they seem to be contacting Eva again wanting to use her to save the warning. But a search on the Internet for the suspect's portrait of Eva only reveals that it's not there anymore. Did Eva agree to help in any case?

Then, 3:10 PM: it seems that the Secret Society women are sending the "Berlin plagiarizer" to the suspect's new domain: ipconnect.de, Berlin, Germany.⁵ He first comes to the suspect's chapter on Hesiod:

80.129.22.21 - - [21/Feb/2016:16:10:05 -0700] "GET /scientificenlightenment1/hesiod.html HTTP/1.1"

Within one minute, he begins copying the chapter onto his Libre Office:

⁵ He was last here on 15 December last year. Note that he's using Windows today instead of Ubuntu.

Then, two minutes later, he comes to another chapter and begins copying it onto his Libre Office document:

While the “Berlin plagiarizer” is doing his work, 3:15 PM, another volunteer comes: directpc.com,

So Eva did agree to help by making a false report about the suspect’s harassment of her? (False because the portrait isn’t even there anymore.) Then, the “Berlin plagiarizer” comes to the Table of Contents,

80.129.22.21 - - [21/Feb/2016:16:16:17 -0700] "GET /scientlitfr.html HTTP/1.1" 200 10711

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV
Lawrence C Chin
Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

He has copied three chapters onto his Libre Office document, the purpose is evidently the same as before: to edit all references out of the suspect's writings in order to create a plagiarized version of them and turn it in to Authority Y saying this is evidence that the Secret Society women are not lying, that the Homeland Security warning is at least right about the suspect in one thing, i.e., that the suspect really is a plagiarizer.

Then, 3:57 PM, woo.bigpond.net.au, Logan Village, Queensland, Australia,

What is this about? False testimony about how the suspect has committed fraud with this piece of drawing as well? Or about finding pornographic contents on his website? The Secret Society women will then take a break of five and a half hours. They are again busy with something tonight. This has been the pattern daily since 16 February: the Secret Society women will take a long break lasting between 5 to 10 hours every night.

Now let's consider the suspect. He wakes up 8 AM or so. On the bus, 9 AM. Today he is not going to St. Sophia but rather to Father Bob's service at an evangelical church not far from Urban Ministry. He arrives there earlier than 10:45 AM. He meets with Father Bob. Service, and Father Bob's message today comes from "Philippians". By noon, the suspect has come back to Starbucks, Vermont/ Prospect. He thinks a little about the problem with the "infinite loop": is the terrorist suspect harming or not harming his targets? Minutes later, 1:25 PM, he suddenly can't save screenshots on his Toshiba, can't download any PDF files, and can't edit his Libre Office document. Massive computer malfunctioning! He reboots, and there is error in /, and he can't auto-check errors, and there is error in /tmp. He reboots it again. This time, everything is okay. Libre Office goes into recovery mode. It's not clear whether this malfunctioning is caused by the control center, perhaps to enter his thoughts about the "infinite loop" into evidence for the previous ICJ trial (as the basis on which to orchestrate the current course of events). The suspect then checks his visitors' log. Then, he goes to the storage facility. He puts in more stuff. Then, Derrick calls him about the apartment business.⁶ Food mall. Then, Culver City. For some reason, the suspect decides – has this anything to do with the control center? – to stop by the strip club near the Metro station. There is only one girl working in this late afternoon and she completely rips off the suspect. The woman (not white) is a very skillful man-eater. The suspect leaves within 30 minutes.⁷ He will regret about the money he has lost throughout the rest of the night – and in fact often in the coming weeks. The suspect then attends French-in-Mind. There is a Polish guy showing up, a first-timer. He is a programmer at Google. The suspect then goes home. Past midnight, the suspect downloads Stephen Hicks's audio-book on postmodernism.

10:42 PM, the Secret Society women resume operation:

221.234.44.219 - - [21/Feb/2016:23:42:34 -0700] "GET /2012/92012-8.png HTTP/1.1" 404 609 "http://image.baidu.com/search/detail?ct=503316480&z=0&ipn=d&word=%E8%84%91%E6%8E

The first visit to this image since the resumption of operation. False testimony about the suspect's plagiarism (also to reinforce the false impression that 2011.com still exists and is filled with plagiarized contents).

In sum, you can see that the Secret Society women are getting very aggressive today about persuading Authority Y that the suspect is indeed a plagiarizer. Again, they must be getting frustrated over the fact that, a week after the Partisans have come to their side and they have resumed operation, all their false reports about the suspect's website are falling on deaf ears on the side of law enforcement. And so, out of 11 visits to the suspect's non-existent website today, only three have come from Bing or Baidu. There are also four visits to his existent website plus the "Berlin plagiarizer's" operation. 16 visitors: quite a busy day.

22 February (Monday; homeless; the German Lady's meetup; SSW out after 10 PM)

After an almost six-hour break, the Secret Society women resume operation. 5:57 AM, they send another volunteer to the suspect's new domain: btc-net.bg, Vivacom, Kavarna, Bulgaria.

The volunteer immediately comes to the Table of Contents.

Most likely a false testimony about finding plagiarism on 1998.com (in order to reinforce the false impression that 2011.com still exists and is filled with plagiarized contents). Just like the previous false testimony.

Then, 6:26 AM, the Secret Society women send another volunteer to the suspect's new domain: York Region District School Board, Aurora, Ontario, 209.221.90.250 - - [22/Feb/2016:07:26:12 -0700] "GET /gallery/perspective7.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200 147939 "https://www.google.ca/" "Mozilla/5.0 (iPad; CPU OS 9_2 like Mac OS X) AppleWebKit/601.1.46 (KHTML, like Gecko) Version/9.0 Mobile/13C75 Safari/601.1"

False testimony about how the suspect has plagiarized his theory on linear perspective. The false testimony is supposedly made more credible by the volunteer's status as a school teacher.

Then, 7:21 AM, the Secret Society women send a third volunteer to the suspect's new domain: Vodafone Telekomunikasyon A.S., Adana, Turkey, (*)

This is the sixth visit to this existent image since the resumption of operation. False testimony (plagiarism)? The fact that the Secret Society women have sent four volunteers in a row to the suspect's new domain certainly indicates their frustration with Authority Y's non-response to their claims about the suspect's plagiarism.

The twenty-third visit.

There will be no more visits until late morning tomorrow. As you can see, the Secret Society women are retiring later than usual tonight. It should be noted that the German Lady is hosting her German Language Meetup tonight, and so she is probably leaving home by 6 PM, leaving ANG, SDW, KRN, and Dr P to run the operation by themselves.

Out of 10 visits to the suspect's non-existent website, only three have come from Bing. On the other hand, there are four visits to his new domain. 15 visits in total today: a very busy day for the Secret Society women.

Now let's examine the suspect. Today will be the first day of his homelessness. He wakes up 8:30 AM. Not enough sleep. McDonald's. Home, he does a final round of clean-up. The landlord Ms Li comes on 11 AM. The suspect hands over the keys and everything else: the room is no longer his. He gets on the bus on 11:30 AM. He comes to the storage facility to put in more of his things. 3:30 PM, he is at the Starbucks in downtown. He emails RD, who would soon write back agreeing to meet this Thursday at the same place. (And so the Invisible Hand still needs more evidence!) Then the suspect attends men's group at Chrysalis. Then, he goes to the Starbucks in Westwood. He does his writing and studying. Then, 12:23 AM, he posts on AVFM, to fictionalize his current understanding of the Secret Society women's operation:

I'm happy to announce that I have worked out the latest episode of the "script" I'm writing. I shall continue the series. Here it goes:

It appears to the suspect that the SS women are currently falsely reporting him to law enforcement for doing covert operation in the US for China. The reason why the SS women might want to frame him for doing clandestine works for China is that they have heard that he could still legally repatriate to China and so want to prevent him from doing so. They might have considered it too dangerous for him to go to China because they believe there are a lot of xxxxxxxx xxxxxxxx there who might help him obtain proofs for their past false reports about him to diverse law enforcement agencies. The SS women have, within three years, opened 16 cases against the suspect at a dozen law enforcement agencies and international institutions and have filed more than 20,000 false criminal reports about him, having mobilized approximately 10,000 people for the enterprise. Of the 20,000 reports, around 15,000 are reports accusing him of plagiarizing. In these reports, the SS women have portrayed him as:

Misogynist, white supremacist, anti-Semite, plagiarizer, computer-hacker, stalker, cyberstalker, anti-American terrorist, vandalizer (i.e. a misogynist terrorist who is prone to become obsessed with women, stalk them, and then vandalize their properties in order to terrorize them), violent, delusional, paranoid schizophrenic believing in his delusion that the women he is obsessed with are always involved in some government conspiracy to go after him, fond of violating women's privacy by spilling out their private information and slandering them online, sexually perverted and yet impotent and thus loving and hating white females at the same time, extremely malicious and pathologically deceitful (anti-social), habitually impersonating others on the Internet, and possibly an agent of multiple foreign powers here to destabilize the US.

Every time when the suspect thinks about SS women's portrayal of him in the above manner to law enforcement agencies and their 20,000 false criminal complaints about him, he gets very excited. He is now dreaming of one day going to the Guinness World Records to reclaim his prize, having set [the] world record as the most falsely complained and reported about criminal suspect in the history of humankind, as the most slandered, disgusting, and detested criminal suspect in the history of humankind, as the owner of the most complained about and most detested website in the history of the Internet. As the most gang-stalked and cyber-gang-stalked victim in the history of humankind. Too bad that the SS women, he thinks, want to keep the whole affair a secret, otherwise they too can go to the Guinness World Records to claim their prize as having set [the] world record in having made the greatest number of criminal complaints against a single person in the history of humankind.

And so, by night, the suspect writes all this down in a men's rights Internet forum, hoping to offer the SS women more materials to complain about.

The end of today's episode. [Applause.]

Again, the suspect cannot help but want to express in the open how people have been trying to harm him, and yet, fearing the Secret Society women, he has to write it as if it were some sort of joke, a "script" he is writing. The reality is however that he is wrong about the Secret Society women's attempt to frame him for connections to the Chinese intelligence service, etc. It's a Russian trick – the effect of which you shall see presently. The suspect's posting is in fact taken into the ICJ as evidence in favor of the Russian side – that the suspect suffers from paranoid delusion about the Secret Society women's going after him: it's not just that he's wrong about the women's attempt to frame him for connections with foreign powers, but also that his description of their operation on him isn't quite right (although the profile is more or less correct). (But of course the CIA will merely point out, again, that the suspect has simply made the incorrect inference from the available evidence (i.e. the strange "1" pop-up on Wen Ho Lee's website), and that "incorrect inference" is not the same as "delusion".) Nevertheless, the previous ICJ trial will be locked up for the time being. The suspect will sleep in Westwood Village tonight. Tomorrow morning he will have to go to work.

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV
Lawrence C Chin
Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

23 February (Tuesday; no more visits to 2011.com; break 4 – 11 PM)

After 15 hours, the Secret Society women resume operation. 11:45 AM, they send a volunteer to the suspect's new domain: Orange Espana, Barcelona, Spain,

It would appear that, after making another false testimony on behalf of the Secret Society women about the suspect's plagiarism – or after discussing with them about how to better convince Authority Y that the suspect is a plagiarizer – he clicks around to see what better evidence he can find.

There will then be no more activities from the Secret Society women for seven hours. Then, 11 PM, hsd1.il.comcast.net, Evergreen Park, Illinois.

76.16.188.74 - - [24/Feb/2016:00:00:51 -0700] "GET /blogs/2013/04/20/a-comment-on-darpas-involvement-in-brain-initiative/ HTTP/1.1" 404 662 "http://forum.prisonplanet.com/index.php?topic=260320.0" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.1; WOW64; rv:44.0) Gecko/20100101 Firefox/44.0"

Presumably another false testimony about how the suspect is spelling out his bizarre delusion about being chipped in the brain on Internet forums: "The Homeland Security warning about him is correct!"

Then, 3:58 AM, the Secret Society women send another volunteer to the suspect's new domain: business.telecomitalia.it, Vicenza, Italy,

217.141.77.114 - - [24/Feb/2016:04:58:08 -0700] "GET /gallery/wine.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200 33874

You recall that, ever since the suspect has moved his website, or between 15 January and 12 February, the Secret Society women have visited this (existent) image seven times. It's the most popular item in the early phase of their operation since the suspect has moved everything to his new domain. It's their favorite evidence for their bizarre claim that the suspect has stolen artworks from other people and put them up on his own website as a way to pretend to be an artist. Then, three minutes later, 4:01 AM, this same volunteer comes to another image of the same drawing:

217.141.77.114 - - [24/Feb/2016:05:01:22 -0700] "GET /gallery/1305_detail.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200

How this drawing should have convinced any authority that the Homeland Security warning is correct! As you can see, after intense activities yesterday, the Secret Society women today make no visits to the suspect's non-existent website – except for the single volunteer who has come from the Prison Planet posting. This will be the case everyday from now on until this month ends – until the women have found the next law enforcement agency to complain to. Clearly, a turning point has been reached today. By early this morning, Authority Y must have suddenly asked for better proofs for all this discovery of plagiarized materials on 2011.com. The Secret Society women would then be caught in an impasse: how to prove that plagiarized materials are all over 2011.com when this website no longer exists? Thus, on 11:45 AM and 3:17 PM, the Secret Society women produce two evidences showing (or so they claim) that plagiarism is found on 1998.com. The 11 PM visit certainly indicates that Authority Y has finally definitively dismissed the Homeland Security warning altogether, so that the women now have to scramble their volunteers to brainstorm how to save the warning by providing proofs that the suspect has indeed been delusional about being chipped in the brain and gone after by them. Then, 4 AM, the Secret Society women examine again the evidence for their claim that the suspect has indeed stolen other people's artworks in order to feign artistic talent. The Secret Society women are now going to refocus on the Prison Planet postings to make their case that they have indeed been the victims of this extremely delusional misogynist terrorist and cyberstalker of women in just the way the Homeland Security warning has laid out.

Let us now consider the suspect. He sleeps in Westwood Village from 1:30 to 6 AM. After waking up, he comes to Starbucks, and will be there until almost 9 AM. Then he is ready to go to work. He takes Bus 6 to the Green Line station, and then comes to El Segundo. He arrives at World Race Inc. to report to work. He meets with Virginia. Although not looking too shabby, he is nevertheless worried because he smells not so good and is dragging a big suit case. He works all day long translating receipts, etc., until 6 PM. On his way coming back, he has decided to skip the Forum tonight. He eats dinner at SM Promenade. Then he comes back to Starbucks, Westwood, to do his usual things (checking his log, writing, and studying).

24 February (Wednesday; Youtube; break 11 AM – 5:30 PM and 5:30 PM – 1:30 AM; the German Lady's meetup)

After six and a half hours, the Secret Society women resume operation. 10:34 AM, they send a volunteer to the suspect's new domain: 204.sub-97-45-145.myvzw.com, Puyallup, Washington,

This is the suspect's drawing "Goddess overlooking the origin of Chinese civilization". Recall that this drawing was stolen from the suspect by Homeland Security and then deposited at the suspect's relatives'. The Secret Society women are therefore still examining the evidences for their claim that the suspect has stolen his family members' drawings and put them up on his own website. (In continuation of the examination from 4 AM.) Then, more than a minute later, the volunteer comes to another view of the same drawing:

Then, within six seconds, he comes to the suspect's online gallery:

10:51 AM, the Secret Society women send another volunteer to the suspect's new domain: University of North Texas, Denton, Texas. (Near Dallas.)

129.120.178.53 - - [24/Feb/2016:11:51:14 -0700] "GET /gallery/perspective2.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200 45683 "https://www.google.com/" "Mozilla/5.0 (Macintosh; Intel Mac OS X 10_10_5) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Chrome/48.0.2564.116 Safari/537.36"

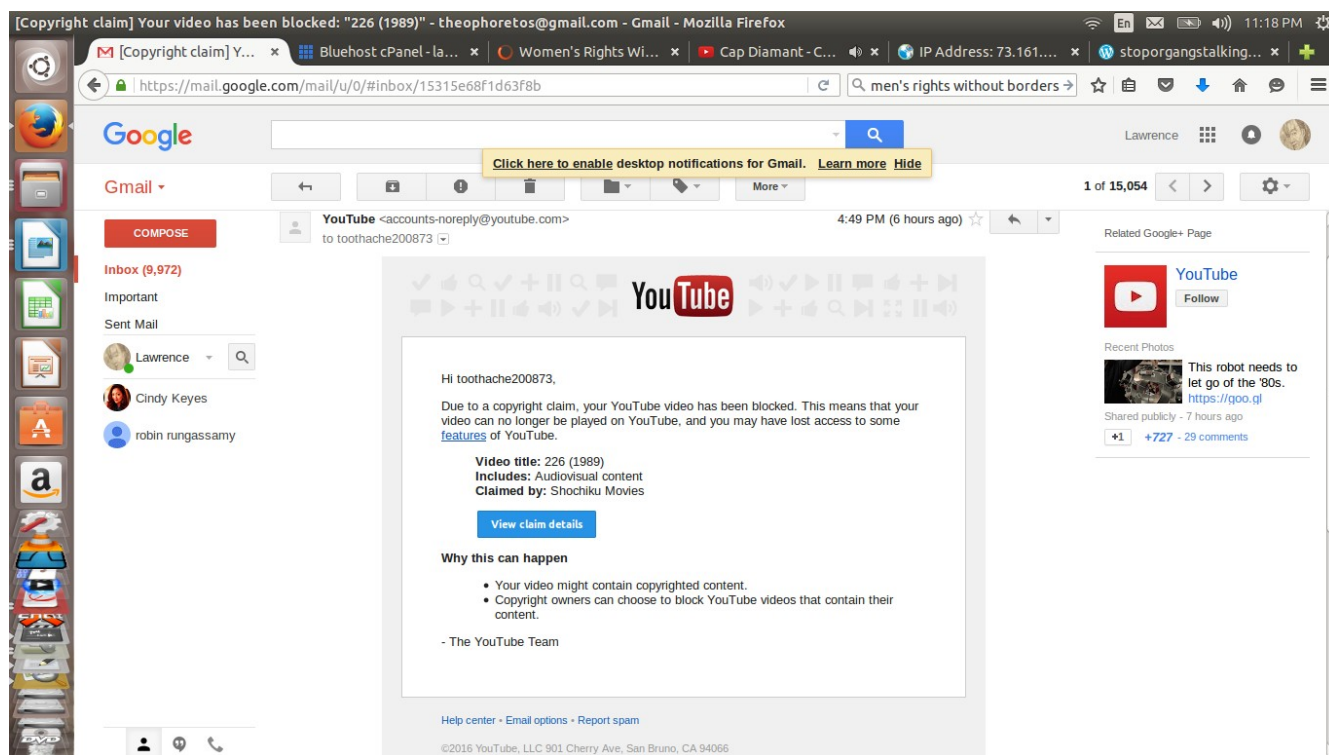

This is in fact the first time that the Secret Society women have visited the existent version of this image. Certainly another examination of the evidence for the claim that the suspect has plagiarized his theory on linear perspective – how more plagiarized materials are found on 1998.com. The Secret Society women then make no more visits to the suspect's website until past 5 PM – more than six and a half hours later. In the meantime, 4:34 PM, KRN posts on her Facebook: "Got tickets to an event on Ticketfly". This seems to be an automatic post. This is the first post on KRN's Facebook since 18 January. Thus, while the business with Authority Y still hangs in the balance, KRN has bought a ticket for some event,⁸ which is then automatically registered on her Facebook.

Then, 4:49 PM, there is a copyright violation claim against the movie "226" which the suspect is hosting on his Youtube Channel. It's now evident what has happened. This morning, the Secret Society women and their volunteers try one more time to save the Homeland Security warning with Authority Y by submitting better evidence that the suspect has indeed stolen his drawings from his family members. (Did the suspect's cousin Evelyn help in by certifying?) Nevertheless, by early afternoon, ⁸ The event is "Clan of Xymox + Drab Majesty at Echoplex": she got tickets to see Part Time Punks, Clan of Xymox and Drab Majesty at The Echo in Los Angeles. The event is apparently scheduled for 28 August, 2016, 9 PM.

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV

Authority Y has rejected the appeal once again. Thus, no sooner has this rejection become unfavorable evidence in the ICJ to enable the CIA to reactivate the previous ICJ trial (as well as delete the conviction of Homeland Security CO chief and NULND) than the Russians instruct Homeland Security CO chief to instruct the Secret Society women's volunteers to go into the suspect's Youtube channel to see if they can find anything to complain about there. They find the Japanese movie "226", and so file a copyright violation claim against the suspect. Youtube's response would then become temporary evidence in the ICJ to lock up the previous ICJ trial (as well as preserve the conviction of the two pathetic figures).

The Youtube notice of copyright violation

Then, 5:28 PM, the Secret Society women send another volunteer to the suspect's new domain: c-73-161-66-200.hsd1.mi.comcast.net, Utica, Michigan.

73.161.66.200 - - [24/Feb/2016:18:28:46 -0700] "GET /scientificenlightenment1/nostratic2.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200 42640 "https://www.google.com/" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 10.0; WOW64) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Chrome/48.0.2564.116 Safari/537.36"

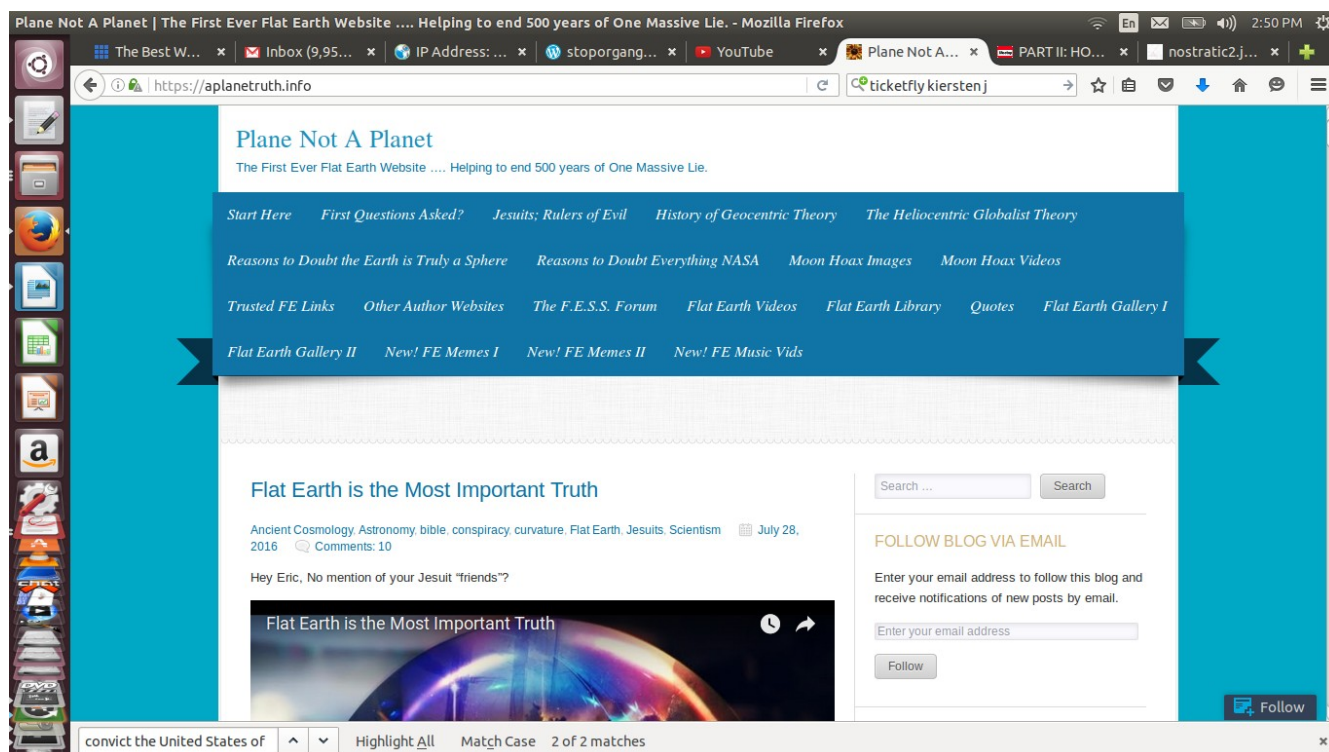

This is the third time that the Secret Society women are visiting this (existent) image. Probably to brainstorm how to prove to any authority that the suspect is indeed a plagiarizer.

Note that the German Lady has moved her meetup from tomorrow to today. Thus, by 5:45 PM, she will be at Red White Bluezz in Glendale to host her meetup, and then take the group to see a Danish movie

(“A War”). While the German Lady is gone, the rest of the Secret Society women will also rest from their work. They will not come to the suspect’s website again until almost eight hours later.

Note that, some time today, SDW would also post a new post on her blog – the first time since 1 January. It’s a documentary “Touchless Torture”, a reblogging of a commentary from aplanetruth.info (another stupid conspiracy theory website) concerning “Smart Dust” and nano-technology. Is SDW trying to lure the suspect to visit her blog in order for Authority Y to obtain evidence that he is currently cyberstalking the Secret Society women? As usual, SDW the master hypocrite: while reporting to law enforcement saying the suspect has plagiarized when he cites from others, she herself does nothing but reblogging other people’s blog posts. While reporting to law enforcement saying the suspect is insane for believing in brain-chips, she herself is a firm believer in mind-control through nano-technology and Smart Dust. While reporting the suspect to law enforcement for “stalking her”, she herself runs the largest gang-stalking enterprise in human history with her women friends.

Now let’s consider the suspect. He sleeps in Westwood Village from 12:30 to 6:40 AM. Across the street from Heavenly Couture. Within an hour, he has noticed a black man sitting on a chair in front of the clothing store, as if to guard the place. The suspect gets so suspicious that he goes to talk to him. The man soon leaves. Is he really a law enforcement officer as the suspect has suspected? Or Homeland Security? (Under Russian command.) After awakening, the suspect goes to Peet’s Coffee. Then he’s on the bus, 7:05 AM, going to storage. The suspect still has to go to World Race today, and he wants to put in his suit case before going to work. It turns out, however, that the storage no longer allows access before 9:30 AM. The suspect waits in the food mall. 9:30 AM, storage, and he puts in the suit case. He also picks up his jeans. Then he heads toward World Race. He is late, arriving past 11 AM, but Virginia doesn't seem to mind. The suspect works hard until 6 PM, when he finally gets his job done. Very sleepy the whole day.

Then he's on the bus going to SM. Suddenly the suspect feels the desire to re-read his "Feefee and Valerie". He's remotely controlled to have tears in his eyes while reading the excerpt from Steve Sailer. Why? It doesn't seem to relate to the current ICJ trial, however. Perhaps it's the Invisible Hand's evidence in his secret, second trial. Dinner in SM, and the suspect sits down next to a pretty tall AWF. The suspect then comes back to Starbucks, Westwood. He talks to a psychiatry resident about "fundamentalism" (literalization) in psychiatry. (You can read about the suspect's thoughts on the matter in his "Political Correctness as Culture Industry".) Then, when he discovers the notice from Youtube, he is severely angered. He goes onto SDW's Youtube channel and "dislikes" her videos as well. 10:50 PM, a pretty AWF is taking pictures of her laptop's screen. The suspect gets suspicious and asks her about it. It doesn't seem to have anything to do with the operation on him. 11:49 PM, the suspect reports SDW's video to Youtube, saying its "violent content" offends him. Worrying that he might have fallen into a trap, 1:17 PM, he posts on AVFM.

I'm working out the script for the latest episode "The suspect and the SS women". I might need some help. If you have suggestions, that is. Here is what I have so far.

It appears to the suspect that the SS women's latest case at a new law enforcement agency is going nowhere. The law enforcement officers have refused to believe that the reports which all the volunteers who have gathered around the SS women have filed about the suspect and his website are true. In order to revive their case, they appeal to their Homeland Security contacts again, who are inside the secret government facility where they have access to the computer system that is linked to the electronic chips planted inside the suspect's brain. The Homeland Security contacts teach the SS women that they can get the suspect to make a complaint about the SS women tonight if the women will first get somebody to make another complaint about the suspect on a social media site. And so the SS women utilize the opportunity to demonstrate their psychology expertise and tell the law enforcement officers, "What we have told you is true. He's dangerous to us. He suffers from paranoid schizophrenia believing that we are going after him. You just watch. When somebody makes a complaint about him online, he will believe that we are responsible for it, and he will retaliate by complaining about us online." "Okay," the officers respond, and promise to keep the suspect under surveillance tonight. Then the SS women get one of their volunteers to make a complaint about the suspect, just as is planned. Meanwhile, when the suspect receives the new complaint about him, he is programmed by Homeland Security to realize that he is called up for mission again. The complaint is a message that the SS women's latest case against him is going dead, so that he had better help them revive it by making a complaint about the SS women, and this, so that the SS women's argument to law enforcement that he always falsely believes that they are going after him may work out. Otherwise, once the SS women's case is dead in the water, he might not have the power to discredit all the anti-liberal forces around the world anymore. And so he also makes a complaint on another social media site about the SS women. Now, law enforcement officers have obtained confirmation of the SS women's claim. Both the suspect and the SS women thus hope that the SS women's case has been successfully revived.

Then, by night, the suspect, as usual, like Doogie Howser, goes on men's rights' online forum to recount how he has accomplished his latest mission, hoping to provide the SS women, and anybody else, with more materials to complain about him.

That's the episode. [No applause since the script is unfinished.] I feel that it might need to be corrected to better entertain people. Please, use PM to provide feedbacks.

As you can see, while the suspect has guessed correctly that the Secret Society women's case is almost "dead in the water", he has misunderstood the women's purpose in complaining about his video on Youtube.⁹ He has merely furnished more evidences for the Russians and their French allies showing that he does intend to use his status as a "terrorist" to discredit all the anti-liberal forces which the Russians support (to help preserve the conviction of Homeland Security CO chief and NULND). (Meanwhile, this of course provides the CIA with evidence that the suspect is "acting" in order to help the Russians.) Past 1:30 AM, the suspect goes to sleep at the same place (across the street from Heavenly Couture). Because his suspicion from last night, he wouldn't urinate there tonight.

Now, let's come back to the Secret Society women. 1:25 AM, the Secret Society women send another volunteer to the suspect's new domain: 189-31-99-221.bnnt3702.dsl.brasitelem.net.br, Blumenau, Brazil,

This is the ninth time that they are looking up this (existent) image. To brainstorm how to convince any authority that the suspect did violate intellectual property rights? To sum up: the Secret Society women have today sent four visitors to the suspect's new domain and have, again, made no visits to his non-existent domain. They are planning on a major operation within hours.

25 February (Thursday; log down, no more visits after 1 PM; RD)

The suspect wakes up in Westwood Village, 6 AM. 7 AM, he is checking his log in Starbucks. Strangely, the log for enlightenment1998.com has disappeared. He signs onto Bluehost's help chat. He checks it again, 7:22 AM. The log is available only from 7:01 AM onward. All the log entries between 2:30 and 7 AM are thus erased. As usual, his help chat amounts to nothing.

⁹ What the suspect has got correctly is marked in red.

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV
Lawrence C Chin
Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

The log between 2:30 and 7 AM is erased

What is going on? This will be the suspect's hypothesis for a long time to come: ever since a turning point has been reached on the morning of 23 February, the Secret Society women, especially ANG, in order to convince Authority Y that they have really been victimized by this demonic website, have thought it better to visit it and make false reports about it themselves. They are of course afraid to do so, fearing that the suspect might identify them on his visitors' log. And so they spend yesterday and the day before trying to obtain an order – either from the detective from 20 January or from Homeland Security itself – stipulating that the suspect's tracking of their visits on his website constitutes “cyberstalking” and requiring Bluehost's administrator to tamper with his visitors' log whenever the women shall visit his website in order to eliminate their traces and “protect their privacy”. Bluehost is probably compelled to comply also because the Secret Society women have sent them a copy of Homeland Security's warning about the suspect as a schizophrenic misogynist terrorist cyberstalker of women.

According to this scenario, between 3 and 6 AM, the Secret Society women (i.e., ANG) must have thoroughly visited the suspect's new domain and falsely reported to Authority Y (or even a new authority) saying they are shocked to find all these evidences of violations of their privacy and attempts to harass them – such as their naked pictures and all these paranoid writings spilling out his bizarre delusions about them (how they are part of some government conspiracy against him). It's not clear whether they would have also falsely reported finding plagiarized writings and stolen drawings, hacking malware, and racist and misogynist hate speech.

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV
Lawrence C Chin
Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

Presumably the way the order works is like this. Recall that, at first, the Secret Society women got the order to block the suspect's website, but that the order was only good in California, so that his website was only blocked in California. And so the Secret Society women retracted the order. They couldn't do anything about Bluehost because Bluehost is in Utah. Now they get another order saying: since the suspect is in California and is "stalking" the women by reading their visits to his website on his log, if Bluehost transmits the log to California, it has to obey California's order by protecting the "victims'" privacy and altering the log to delete traces of their visits. Now, somehow, the federal law which prohibits public utility companies from altering the contents of their customers' accounts is suspended.

It's not clear if, and how much of, this scenario is actually correct.

Now, around two hours after the Secret Society women's possible own visits, they send another volunteer: 8:41 AM, lightspeed.bcvloh.sbcglobal.net, Cleveland, Ohio.

Recall that Cliff Huylebroeck has linked the suspect's (old, non-existent) website from his Gangstalking Wiki. This volunteer tracks this down again; s/he is probably instructed to falsely report to Authority Y or a new authority saying the suspect has intended to further harass the Secret Society women with his website by advertising it on other people's websites.

Then, 10:55 AM, a very strange visit to the suspect's new domain: 88-107-85-129.dynamic.dsl.as9105.com, Redruth, UK, and host-62-24-252-133.as13285.net, Talk Talk, confirmed proxy server, UK. This volunteer comes to this drawing of Goddess Athena which, you recall, the suspect has given to Robin in 2001 as a gift:

If the Secret Society women have indeed found a new authority to complain to, then Robin must be helping in by falsely reporting that the suspect has stolen her drawing and put it up on his own website.

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV
Lawrence C Chin
Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

Then, strangely, both his IP address and user-agent change while looking up robots.txt.

It could be that this happens because the proxy he is using has leaked his original IP address and user-agent.

Then, 11:44 AM, or almost 50 minutes later, the Secret Society women send another volunteer to the suspect's new domain: Jefferson Parish School Board, New Orleans, Louisiana.

204.69.119.119 - - [25/Feb/2016:12:44:47 -0700] "GET /scientificenlightenment1/nostratic2.jpg HTTP/

This is evidently to falsely report finding plagiarized materials on the suspect's website. This is the fourth time that the Secret Society women are focusing on this image. The false report is supposedly made more credible by the volunteer's status as a school teacher.

Then, 12:50 PM, Honar Rayaneh Pooya Andisheh, Kerman, Iran,

212.33.195.27 - - [25/Feb/2016:13:50:54 -0700] "GET /badvisits/5712-43.png HTTP/1.1" 404 614
"https://www.google.com" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 10.0; rv:44.0) Gecko/20100101 Firefox/44.0"

The visit is practically identical to the 17 February, 8:08 AM, visit from Iran (93.110.213.192, Bandar-e Anzali). Certainly the Bandar-e Anzali volunteer has sent the instruction to this Kerman person. Another false testimony to confirm that the suspect is cyberstalking using his visitors' log and so on.

There will be no more visits from the Secret Society women for the rest of the day. This suggests that the Russians have indeed instructed Homeland Security CO chief to find another temporary authority for the women to complain to: "Look, sir! The Homeland Security warning is correct! Authority Y has done us wrong!" This, so that the Russians can at least keep the previous ICJ trial locked up for the time being (while preserving the conviction of Homeland Security CO chief and NULND: a lesser priority). Let's tentatively call the new authority "Authority Z". Now, minus ANG's (possible invisible) visits, only four visits today, and two to the non-existent 2011.com. It could be that it's because the women now need to analyze the suspect's words to RD that they have refrained from activity during the rest of the day.

Now let's examine the suspect. He has an appointment at Edelman today. 8:30 AM, he has arrived in Edelman. 9 AM, he is with Armine. The suspect speaks about the Secret Society women's case against him plus his homelessness as a way to save money. Then, he hurries to Vermont and Sunset for his meeting with RD at Bru-Coffee (from 5:00 onward in the recording). RD has brought with him today Albert Camus' The Myth of Sisyphus. The suspect expresses his disapproval of RD's use of an English translation instead of the French original: "You are supposed to go against the trend of Anglo-American world domination, but here you are just going along with it. Are you pretending to be dumb? If you just want to be 'in the trend', why are you doing all this reading?" The suspect then talks a little about Ortega y Gasset (La Rebellion de las Masas, which he is currently reading). Then, about gaining insight through an accurate description of what is out there. The suspect then talks about finding his theme "fundamentalism" (repeating words without understanding their meaning) in Adorno and Horkheimer. He then shows RD his writing on political correctness (what would become his "Political Correctness as Culture Industry"). It's not like what Zizek has said, the suspect protests against RD. The suspect explains his description of political correctness: repetition of empty words inherited from ancestors without correlation with reality. This is the opposite of what Zizek has said: it's about obstinately keeping the trauma even when it has already disappeared. About the "culture industry": how the culture produced has become identical with the means of its transmission. (This is actually not an accurate understanding of the concept "culture industry".) The suspect then tries to explain to RD that, in his view, only white women are fond of projecting themselves as victims as a way to achieve domination. RD still disagrees. He would vehemently disagree with any assertion that white women are in any sort of power position at all. The suspect debunks RD's example from January: pretty women are followed, but rich men are robbed. Does this fact contradict his assertion that white women are in control of society? RD refutes: the whole idea about power is to keep the lower castes powerless. RD will continue to maintain that it is the elites who are in ultimate control and who want everybody below to fight over who is actually in power: this is how they maintain themselves in power. The suspect finds RD's opinions to be utter unsophisticated, and he is getting frustrated. "Nobody follows this Chinese guy, but somebody is following the white woman, so who has more power in this society?" RD suggests merely that there is some "residual racism" against the Chinese guy. The suspect asks RD to estimate how much of what he has said is conditioned by his position as a white male. Nevertheless, in the end, the suspect compliments RD: "You are doing much better today, today you are not as 'conventional' as you usually are." RD claims the suspect has been inflating the importance of political correctness. The suspect complains: nobody in his vandalism case (from the judge through the prosecutors to his own public defender) is capable of imagining that a guy might be a victim of girls; they have all already decided – before trial and before any investigation – who's guilty and who's innocent on the basis of gender categories. And in all this, the suspect argues, the "elite" has nothing to do with it. All this sexism against males in the criminal justice system is traceable to its root in that moment of "double standard" in the New Left. (Again, the suspect flounders because he doesn't know that everybody is more influenced by the Homeland Security warning about him than by gender stereotypes.) RD then accuses the suspect of confounding identity politics with left-wing politics – and, once more, of forgetting the dominance of the elites. The suspect: "Feminism is a consumerist ideology, it flourishes today because it is 'selected' by the consumerist economic cosmos..." RD continues to insist on his view, how the ruling elites have played one identity group against another.

The suspect: “You are trying to cast doubt over whether my desired revolution to take down white women’s rule is valid at all...” Then the suspect is walking RD to the Metro station. RD: “Your revolution identifies with all these nefarious figures, like Trump...” The suspect: “The very point of the ‘revolution’ is to dismantle the perception of all these nefarious figures. Once the revolution has succeeded, what is ‘nefarious’ wouldn’t appear as ‘nefarious’ anymore...” RD continues to criticize Trump as a “phony”. The suspect: “I’m incapable of achieving any revolution myself, and so I’d rather support a phony who has some overlapping in belief with me...” Finally the suspect tries to explain his “revolution” within RD’s framework: “Within this pig farm, the human being who rules the whole place favors a certain group of pigs among all the pigs, i.e., the white female pigs.” RD laughs. The suspect then expresses his wish to revive this dead horse called “the white male” as a way to take down “white women’s rule”. The suspect then recalls this white guy in orange shirt whom he saw while in jail. He then explains himself: the Hispanics shouldn’t rule, blacks and Asians are too few in number, hence it leaves only white males eligible to rule! The suspect sees RD get on the Metro train on 2:24:00.

Even though the meeting is planned three days ago, the Invisible Hand has evidently wanted this conversation to be evidence for Authority Z that the suspect doesn’t fit Homeland Security’s, and thus the Secret Society women’s, portrayal of him at all. First of all, Authority Z would hear the suspect philosophizing about Adorno and making reasoned arguments. But, secondly, there is a focus today on whether the suspect is indeed a misogynist. The suspect harbors tremendous discontents toward “white women’s rule”, especially because white women have come to control American society by pretending to be victims. This is actually just a description of the Secret Society women. While Authority Z probably does not share the perception that the Secret Society women are representative of white women in America in general, he can presumably see that the suspect is simply reacting against these women’s campaign against him, and would conclude that he is not a “misogynist” in the sense in which the Secret Society women have portrayed him. (Namely, his sentiments have nothing to do with sex!) However, the fact that there are no more visits after 1 PM seems to suggest that the Secret Society women have also spent the afternoon analyzing the same conversation for Authority Z and emphasizing for him that the suspect’s “misogyny” really does accord with their notion of it. Given what happens later, we should of course conclude that, ultimately, Authority Z has sided with the TMU detectives who represent the Invisible Hand’s interpretation and rejected the Secret Society women’s psychoanalysis.

In addition, we must wonder whether the CIA has instructed RD to bring to the meeting The Myth of Sisyphus and, if so, what the purpose is. Presumably, the purpose is as before: later on, when the suspect wonders what the purpose is, the Invisible Hand can analyze to everybody how the suspect only looks like a schizophrenic (“convergence”) but is actually not one. What is really striking about all this is that The Myth of Sisyphus really does look like a secret message which the TMU and the CIA would like to communicate to the suspect: i.e. that, like Sisyphus, the Secret Society women are by now doomed to forever pursuing a goal which they will never attain (proving to any law enforcement authority that they are right about the suspect), all because the warning which the TMU has entered into the terrorist databases about them has by now become established among the law enforcement circle while the Homeland Security warning about the suspect is by now widely dismissed as a piece of junk.

The suspect then goes to lunch on 2 PM. He then comes back to Bru-Coffee and sees that his log is still missing the portion between 2:30 and 7 AM. He then “dislikes” SDW’s videos on his KRT account. Then he naps on the street a little bit. Very sleepy throughout the whole day, not enough sleep for two days straight. He gets up on 4:30 PM, and goes to Chrysalis. He sees Ariane there and bothers her with his request for her to “lead the proletariat to revolution.” Ariane is annoyed this time, and George makes fun of him: “He’s a player!” The suspect is embarrassed: this is the last time he will bother Ariane. After men’s group, the suspect comes back to Starbucks, Westwood. Then it occurs to him that he has forgotten to go to Stammtisch. Not too upset. 10:55 PM, he posts on AVFM:

I need more help with my “script”. I’m also stuck on this latest episode:

It appears to the suspect that the SS women are now opening up a new case against him at a different law enforcement agency. This is the SS women’s 17th case against the suspect. The new law enforcement officers are enthusiastic because, not only is the suspect the most devilish and disgusting criminal and terrorist suspect they have ever heard of, but they have received tips from the SS women and all the volunteers who have gathered around them that the suspect is a secret agent of China here to work harm to the US.

The suspect, sensing this, does his job of helping the SS women whenever possible by getting on men’s rights’ online forum to announce that, yes, he does indeed [do] secretly work for China’s secret services. He gets, he admits, secret instructions from the Chinese secret services in the form of “secret messages” embedded in (1) the assignments (Chinese documents or papers) which his clients have paid him to translate (i.e. on his job); (2) in the spam emails he receives; (3) on his website’s log; (4) on WHL’s website, or (5) virtually anywhere. (The SS women have requested law enforcement to order the hosting company to disable the suspect’s log; but they then refrain from this because it will tip off the suspect that his cover is blown.) The suspect may even have broken a few windows because that was what the Chinese secret services have instructed him to do. He then replies to the Chinese secret services by embedding “secret messages” in return on his nightly diary postings on men’s rights’ online forum.

Hopefully, the SS women, Homeland Security, US law enforcement, and US government can then give China a hard time for having an agent in the US who is the most disgusting criminal terrorist suspect humanity has ever known.

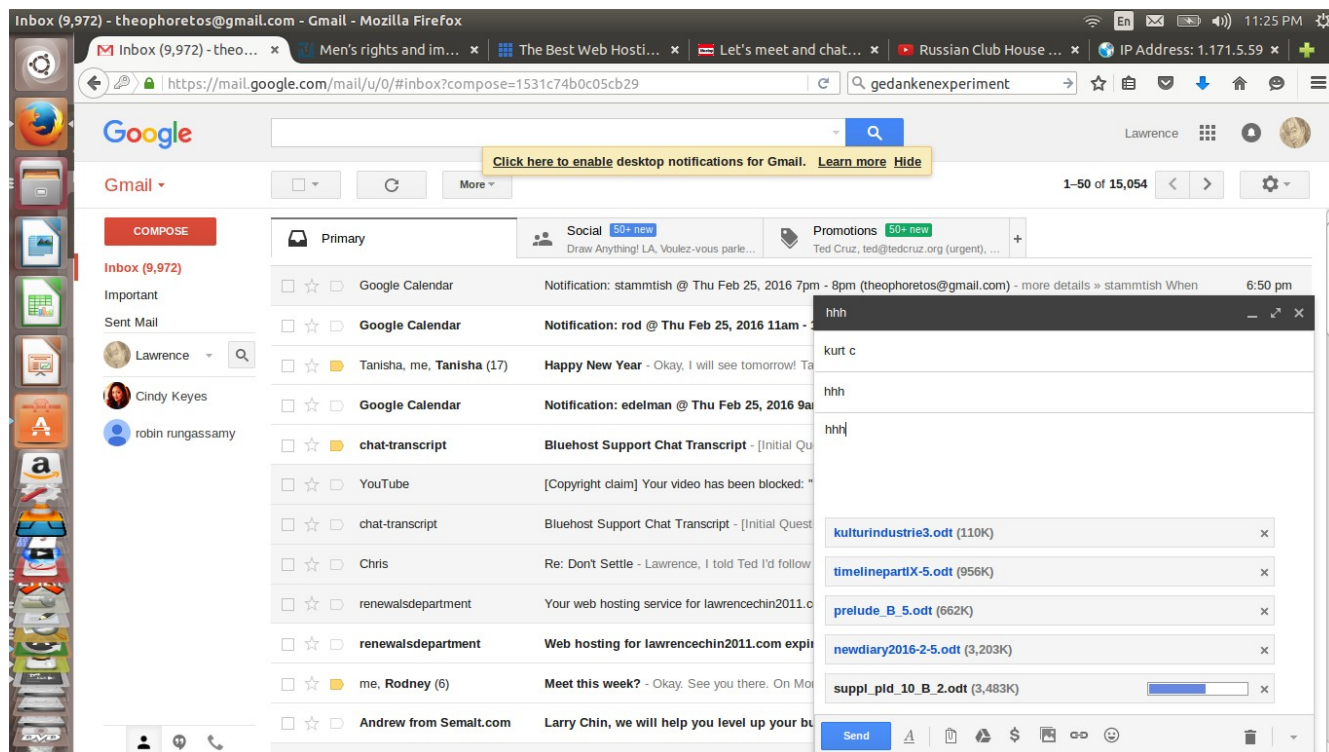

Now, the part where I got stuck is this. The “suspect” is supposed to fictionalize his daily encounter with the SS women and law enforcement on men’s rights’ online forum. But today’s episode consists precisely in the suspect’s admitting his clandestine status on men’s rights’ online forum, and now he is supposed to fictionalize, on men’s rights’ online forum, his non-fictional admission, on men’s rights’ online forum, that he is China’s secret agent. How can he do that? (Not by posting two times, one nonfictional and one fictional, but only one time, because he is only allowed to fictionalize on men’s rights’ online forum.) Please

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV
Lawrence C Chin
Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

PM me if you have the solution to this puzzle.

You can thus see that the suspect is trying to fictionalize his current understanding of the business behind his back. He is still upset that the Secret Society women might have tried to frame him for connection with China's secret services – well, they have not: his understanding is incorrect – and feels the compulsion to express, “I know you have framed me for...” He thinks law enforcement might then get bogged down searching through the receipts he has translated in the past two days. Well, most likely not. Most likely, all he has accomplished is to have enabled the Russian side to collect more evidence confirming that he has indeed the habit of using his status as a “terrorist” to do harm. This time, by entrapping China into a terrorist conspiracy with him. Thus you have seen how the Russians’ trick has taken effect: they know that, when the suspect suspects he is being framed for connection with China (the “1” pop-up message), he will deal with the trauma by actively accepting being framed and thus going online to admit it. Then he could be considered “trying to entrap China into a terrorist conspiracy with him” – just as he has supposedly done with Marine – *which would then enable China to enter the trial on the side of Russia.*¹⁰

Now, 11:30 PM, the suspect goes to sleep, across the street from Heavenly Couture. He urinates there as well.

The suspect backs up his work for today in his Gmail account just before going to sleep

¹⁰ Apparently the MSS’ validation of the Homeland Security warning can serve as temporary evidence in the ICJ to lock up the previous ICJ trial for the time being.

Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

4:14 AM, strange robot activity: 64.79.100.45, rdns.continuumdatacenters.com, Schaumburg, Illinois. It starts with robots.txt, then indexes all the main pages, external links, Table of Contents for The Path Toward Scientific Enlightenment, and every page of the web gallery, but nothing more. All within 5 seconds. In other words, it has avoided all of the suspect's essays (on the European far right movements, etc.). Has this anything to do with the Secret Society women's operation?

4:59 AM, Kosh67 replies to the suspect on AVFM ("Men's rights and immigration from Eurasia"): "Why send it to the Republicans? They're not the ones who have been eroding the rights of men for the past 7 years. Send it to the mangina and vice mangina-in-chief instead. Better yet, send it in as an open letter to the New York Times, Wall Street Journal, and any and every other big name newspaper you can think of. Most of them will obviously turn it down, but if even one of them publishes it, you're golden." What is "Mangina and Vice Mangina-in-Chief"? Very likely, it is the Russian-controlled Homeland Security which has instructed Kosh67 to post this, the purpose being to elicit the response from the suspect which you shall see soon.

26 February (Friday; SSW out 9:30 AM – 7:30 PM)

After more than 17 hours, the Secret Society women resume operation. (Assuming the Schaumburg indexing is not related to them.) 6:12 AM, they send a volunteer to the suspect's new domain: Maxis Communications, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia,

121.121.89.199 - - [26/Feb/2016:07:12:52 -0700] "GET /gallery/perspective1.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200 40618 "https://www.google.com/" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.1) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Chrome/48.0.2564.116 Safari/537.36"

Recall the Kuala Lumpur volunteer from 19 February (5712-43.png). Recall also that the last time the Secret Society women looked up this image is 18 February – two times that day. This is only the third time that the Secret Society women look up the existent version of this image. Very likely a false report about how the suspect has committed fraud with his artworks, in an attempt to save their appeal to Authority Z.

Then, 9:16 AM, Vodafone Netherlands, Maastricht, Netherlands.

62.72.192.69 - - [26/Feb/2016:10:16:46 -0700] "GET /2012/92012-8.png HTTP/1.1" 404 609 "http://interpreteeg007.blog.163.com/blog/static/2060561642013628801821/" "Mozilla/5.0 (iPhone; CPU iPhone OS 7_0_2 like Mac OS X) AppleWebKit/537.51.1 (KHTML, like Gecko) Version/7.0 Mobile/11A501 Safari/9537.53"

Recall that this is a MSS informant reblogging one of the suspect's blog posts on brain-computer interface. The Secret Society women are probably making another false report to Authority Z saying the suspect has copied somebody else's blog (i.e. just the opposite of reality). There will be no more activities from the Secret Society women until almost 8 PM. Either they are waiting for a response from Authority Z or Authority Z has instructed them not to bother him anymore.

Now let's look at the suspect. He wakes up in Westwood village, past 9 AM! He hurries to Chrysalis to catch his appointment with Tanisha. He meets with Tanisha almost 11 AM. He gets angry while talking about the Secret Society women. He would be angry afterwards too. Then he goes to the storage facility. He picks up his suitcase and Asus. 12:20 PM, on Metro. There is a Korean woman who has her folder opened up, with notes on it. The suspect, still upset about the "Chinese secret agent" business, points this out to her: "Secret messages for me." If there is surveillance around him at this time, it would be another evidence in favor of the Russians. Then, the suspect comes back to Starbucks, Westwood. He checks his log. The erased portion remains erased. The suspect gets upset. He first tries Bluehost help chat. Then he simply calls up Bluehost's tech support. He wants to talk about the problem with his visitors' log, and, in the process, presents his theory that, because he is a "criminal suspect", law enforcement has required Bluehost to alter his log. It doesn't seem that the Bluehost tech support person even understands what he is talking about. The suspect then notices the reply to him on AVFM, and, 2:54 PM, posts a reply to that:

Yes Kosh, SSBCI. I need to make a correction in my previous "script":

When the SS women need to visit the suspect's website in order to tell law enforcement what disgusting and criminal and foreign spy secrets are found on it (since law enforcement is not allowed to look at the website itself per "victim confidentiality"), it's a major event, for the SS women like to be invisible, and law enforcement has to order the suspect's web-hosting company to disable the Apache server log first, and only enable the server log again after the SS women have finished visiting the suspect's website. The whole process takes an hour or so.

And, so, as usual, by night, the suspect reports the problem to his Chinese boss on men's rights' online forum, remembering to fictionalize it so as to avoid American law enforcement's detection. BKSE. "Boss, the very smart American women have blown my cover! AGENT 99966!" The Chinese secret services have a secret program: to send agents to America to xxxxx American women in retaliation against: Women's Rights Without Frontiers, etc.

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV
Lawrence C Chin
Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

Women's Rights Without Frontiers is an NGO founded by Reggie Littlejohn, whose purpose is to help those women in China affected by the Chinese government's one child policy. Another NGO very unpopular with the Chinese government, as you can imagine. But everyone presumably can see that the suspect is making things up.

Now, what is going on is that the suspect simply couldn't help but want to verbalize his frustration with the tampering with his visitors' log. In the second place, he couldn't help but want to express sarcasm in regard to how (so he believes) he has been framed for connection with the Chinese secret services. Now, this is the evidence which the Russians need to establish once and for all that the suspect does intend to entrap China into a terrorist conspiracy with him – which would be their argument against the CIA's dismissal of any seriousness on the part of the suspect in his seeming intent to harm.

Then, by 7:45 PM, the Secret Society women have resumed operation: 99-164-185-53.lightspeed.
bcvloh.sbcglobal.net, Berea, Ohio.

99.164.185.53 - - [26/Feb/2016:20:45:08 -0700] "GET /blogs/2014/04/14/last-word-on-my-past-two-month-targeting-and-gang-stalking/ HTTP/1.1" 404 669 "http://forum.prisonplanet.com/index.php?topic=260320.0" "Mozilla/5.0 (Linux; Android 5.1.1; SAMSUNG-SM-G928A Build/LMY47X) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Chrome/48.0.2564.95 Mobile Safari/537.36"

It would appear that, because Authority Z has finally communicated their definitive judgment that the Homeland Security warning is invalid – thus canceling the Secret Society women's status as victimes

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV

extraordinaires and expert witnesses – the women are again mobilizing volunteers to reexamine the evidence of the suspect’s delusions about them.

10:44 PM, it’s the indexing from Parsijoo on the non-existent 2011.com:

31.184.131.24 - - [26/Feb/2016:23:44:17 -0700] "GET /correlaterv3/correlateerrata.pdf HTTP/1.1" 404
625 "http://www.lawrencechin2011.com/" "Mozilla/5.0 (compatible; ParsijooBot; +http://www.parsijoo.ir/; crawler@parsijoo.ir)"

The indexing is finished by 10:47 PM. It has only attempted to index all the chapters on the Secret History. It’s highly likely that it is the Iranian government which has directed the Iranian company to index the suspect’s non-existent website for the benefits of the Secret Society women. It may be that the Secret Society women have wanted this indexing because they are still frustrated with the fact that 2011.com no longer exists and want to verify, once and for all, whether any pages on it might still exist.

3:52 AM, this visit occurs on 2011.com! (ptr.cnsat.com.cn: ShenZhen Sunrise Technology, Shenzhen, Guandong)

202.46.56.208 - - [27/Feb/2016:04:52:16 -0700] "GET /farrights/farright5_nofntb.pdf HTTP/1.1" 404
586 "-" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 5.1; rv:6.0.2) Gecko/20100101 Firefox/6.0.2"

What is this about? In sum, we can see that the Secret Society women have spent the night brainstorming and discussing rather than running operations. Only 4 visits today, including one visit to the MSS operative’s reblogging of the suspect’s blog post.

Now let’s come back to the suspect. 9 PM, he is still at Starbucks, and his Internet connection is much slower. He wonders if it’s because law enforcement has to examine all his Internet connections. (Due to his BS on AVFM, that is.) It’s noteworthy that, while he is smoking outside Starbucks, a Chinese girl with perfect hips and wearing earphones but carrying nothing else walks past him. The suspect immediately suspects her to be a Chinese secret agent (MSS). He’s probably right! China is now on Russia’s side; now that the suspect has made two attempts to “frame China”, the Chinese intelligence service is formally a party to the dispute in the ICJ. The Russians have once more established their case: the suspect is a “terrorist” in the sense that he likes to use his (presumably true) status as a “terrorist” to do harm.¹¹ This Chinese girl secret agent is probably here to obtain a current video of the suspect’s appearance. 12 AM, the suspect goes to sleep, across the street from Heavenly Couture. He has again urinated there.

27 February (Saturday; SSW out after 6:30 PM)

After 10 hours or so, the Secret Society women resume operation. 5:38 AM, they send a volunteer to ¹¹ The Russians’ argument might seem identical to the CIA’s (that the suspect is using his terrorist status to do harm), but no: whereas the Russians claim that this “terrorist status” is true, the CIA’s claim is that it is false.

the suspect's new domain: xs4all.nl, Rotterdam, Netherlands,

82.161.114.39 - - [27/Feb/2016:06:38:43 -0700] "GET /scientificenlightenment1/hierarchyofneeds.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200 73443 "https://www.google.nl/" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 10.0; WOW64) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Chrome/48.0.2564.116 Safari/537.36"

This is the sixth visit to this (existent) image. The last time was on 21 February, six days ago! For this reason, another false testimony about the suspect's plagiarism.

6:31 AM, another volunteer to the suspect's new domain: leaseweb.com, Amsterdam, Netherlands,

95.211.199.75 - - [27/Feb/2016:07:31:53 -0700] "GET /farrights/farright_sum.pdf HTTP/1.1" 200 272439 "https://www.google.com" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 10.0; WOW64; rv:44.0) Gecko/20100101 Firefox/44.0"

There is no showing of favicon.ico. This is probably a proxy. This is the first time that the Secret Society women focus on this short piece. What is this about?

Then, 7:52 AM, another volunteer comes to the suspect's new domain: co-217-129-105-136.netvisao.pt, Almada, Portugal,

217.129.105.136 - - [27/Feb/2016:08:52:48 -0700] "GET /gallery/dukesm2.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200 5252 "-" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.1; WOW64) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Chrome/48.0.2564.116 Safari/537.36"

It looks like he is simply sent the link to this small image and also some further instruction. He thereby follows the instruction and Googles for the suspect's web gallery.

217.129.105.136 - - [27/Feb/2016:08:53:15 -0700] "GET /gallery/gallery.html HTTP/1.1" 200 4412 "https://www.google.pt/" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.1; WOW64) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Chrome/48.0.2564.116 Safari/537.36"

More false testimony about how the suspect has committed fraud with his artworks.

8:22 AM, another volunteer comes to the suspect's new domain: 5ed12f69.cm-7-2a.dynamic.ziggo.nl, the Hague, Netherlands,

94.209.47.105 - - [27/Feb/2016:09:22:15 -0700] "GET /gallery/perspective1.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200 40618 "https://www.google.nl" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.3; WOW64; rv:44.0) Gecko/20100101 Firefox/44.0"

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV
Lawrence C Chin
Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

This is in fact the first time that the Secret Society women have visited this (existent) webpage since connecting up with the Interpol. (They last reported on the non-existent webpage on 16 February.) Presumably another false testimony to certify that the suspect has plagiarized his theory on linear perspective. Then, one minute later, this volunteer comes to the web gallery just like the previous volunteer:

94.209.47.105 - - [27/Feb/2016:09:23:19 -0700] "GET /gallery/gallery.html HTTP/1.1" 200 4412
"http://www.enlightenment1998.com/gallery/perspective.html" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.3; WOW64; rv:44.0) Gecko/20100101 Firefox/44.0"

The Secret Society women are today evidently fabricating some new demonic story about the suspect's web gallery. The last desperate attempt to save the Homeland Security warning with Authority Z?

Then, 12:44 PM, more than four hours later, another volunteer comes to the suspect's new domain: cpe-66-68-244-154.rgv.res.rr.com, Rio Grande City, Texas,

66.68.244.154 - - [27/Feb/2016:13:44:50 -0700] "GET /scientificenlightenment1/hierarchyofneeds.jpg Gecko/20100101 Firefox/44.0"

The second visit to this image today and the seventh in total. Plagiarism?

Then Secret Society women then take another break of more than four hours. Then, 5:15 PM, another volunteer comes to the suspect's new domain: Google proxy, Ft Lauderdale, Florida,

66.102.8.228 - - [27/Feb/2016:18:15:07 -0700] "GET /thermh2.html HTTP/1.1" 200 45319

AppleWebKit/535.19 (KHTML, like Gecko; googleweblight) Chrome/38.0.1025.166 Mobile Safari/535.19"

This seems to be a Brazilian residing in the US ("en-us"). Another false testimony about the suspect's plagiarism.

Then, amazingly, 6:23 PM, the Secret Society women send a volunteer to the suspect's non-existent domain: c-66-235-6-213.sea.wa.customer.broadstripe.net, Seattle, Washington,

The first time since the Secret Society women gave up on the non-existent domain on 23 February. This might be related to the women's attempt to persuade Authority Z that 2011.com – the website the suspect uses to harass them – really still exists.

There will be no more activities from the Secret Society women for the rest of the day. 8 visits in total today – including one to the non-existent domain.

Now let's examine the suspect. He wakes up past 7 AM. Between 8 and 10 AM, he calls W three times, but not even the answering machine is turned on. The Internet speed is okay, and he uploads "Prelude-13" to his website (the reconstruction of the current ICJ trial up to 21 December). He can't see it online, however, and the download has tremendously slowed down. Is it due to the MSS' involvement? 11 AM, the suspect goes to UCLA. He eats in Ackerman. Then he naps on the grass. Then, W calls (from 2:36:00 onward). Here are the details of the conversation. (1) The suspect wonders whether the Secret Society women are currently framing him for doing espionage for China. "They have a new case against me... They seem to be preparing this in case I go to Taiwan – they want to cut off my escape route. KRN is impressing law enforcement with her ingenious psychoanalysis of me... Just like before, they dominate the surveillance over me... They filter the surveillance, and they are using police surveillance to stalk me..." The suspect then asserts that the Secret Society women are retaliating against him for NULND's consideration of them as "terrorist harm" against the United States. As you can see, the suspect is completely wrong in all his understanding of the current phase of the Secret Society women's operation. For somebody who knows what's going on, all this indeed sounds like a confirmation of the Secret Society women's claim that the suspect, suffering from schizophrenia, is in the habit of imagining them going after him and inflicting all this evil on him. It's in fact Homeland Security, under the Russians' direction, who has been provoking him with the "Chinese connection", not the Secret Society women. The Russians will certainly use the suspect's words here to confirm Homeland Security's false profile of him in the ICJ and thus lock up the previous ICJ trial for the time being. Meanwhile, you can expect the CIA to reiterate their argument: the suspect says these seemingly crazy things here because he has drawn incorrect inferences from the few evidences available to him. "Being wrong" is not the same thing as "being delusional". (2) The suspect then talks about the strange pop-up message "1" on Wen Ho Lee's website. To establish identity between him and Wen Ho Lee in the evidentiary records of the previous ICJ trial? Again, wrong speculation, and the Russians' second evidence for today. The suspect expresses his theory that Wen Ho Lee was the go-between between the CIA and the Chinese. (He doesn't know that his theory is all wrong.) "Is there anything about me that is like a 'go-between'?" We must leave the matter here. We already know that the main purpose is to provoke the suspect to frame China. (3) About the tampering with his visitors' log two days ago. It must be ANG who has requested it. She was thus on his website between 4 and 7 AM, Thursday morning. She's a super VIP! When she visits, the log has to be altered to erase her traces. Has this something to do with what he has posted on men's rights' forum on Wednesday night? The suspect wonders. In fact, no. As you have seen, it is probably related to the Secret Society women's impasse with Authority Y. The suspect then describes how he has begun, on men's rights' forum, serializing a story about a criminal suspect who is serializing, on men's rights' forum, a story about a criminal suspect who is serializing... ad infinitum. "Is that person you?" W asks. "It's a fictional account. It looks like me, but it's not me." The suspect then describes how, on Wednesday night, he posted a message claiming the Chinese is sending him (the fictional version of him on men's rights' online forum) messages via his visitors' log. The suspect wonders whether it might be this which has prompted law enforcement to allow ANG to visit his website and then erase the log entries of her visits. Again, the suspect is all wrong here: more evidences in favor of the Russians. "The Secret Society women wanted my reconstructions," the suspect exclaims, and that's why they want to get him. Wrong again! (4) The suspect then talks about his two-day job at World Race Inc. Translating receipts from China! What a coincidence, just when he is being framed for connection with the Chinese intelligence! Then about how he didn't do a good job. (5) The suspect then describes how he has written on men's rights' online forum about a guy posting on men's rights' online forum who is – a Chinese secret agent! The Secret Society women will use this as evidence confirming that he is indeed a Chinese secret agent! Again, he's all wrong here: more evidence in favor of the Russians. The suspect explains that he is trying to be "born-again American", i.e. like Americans, when he opens his mouth, he needs to spew out shit. He has thus begun describing on the same forum a Chinese intelligence operation: sending agents to America to break white women's windows in retaliation for "Women's Rights Without Borders". It actually looks like a believable story, he exclaims. Perhaps the Secret Society women have made something out of it. Thus is he trying to become like KRN, this pathological liar, a "born-again American". The Russian side would indeed use the suspect's confession here as evidence confirming that he has intended to harm China and justifying China's entry into the ICJ trial. (6) The suspect then describes the strange result at which he has arrived in his reconstruction – now up to 21 December. Somebody was actually training the detectives to see through the Secret Society women's deception! Well, he's completely correct here. By now he has lost track of the Secret Society women's operations, and he's not even sure where they are reporting to and whether they are successful in their deception. (7) The suspect then discusses his habit of urinating at Heavenly Couture. The suspect has mistaken the name of the clothing store for "Caitlin". His wrong scenario that the Secret Society women have been tracking where he habitually urinates and reporting his urination to law enforcement. This urination has also become his "terrorism on women". The suspect then recalls that PD has once searched for "Caitlin" on his blog, i.e. May last year. He mistakenly thinks that PD was searching for "Heavenly Couture", which means that the Secret Society women have already tracked down his urination spots even before he was arrested. In reality, as the suspect will discover soon, "Caitlin" is one of the Pilates teachers at PD's Pilates center. The suspect is completely mistaken here: the Secret Society women have never compiled a log tracking where he has urinated. Here is more evidence in favor of the Russians, even though the CIA will again point out that the suspect has simply drawn incorrect inferences: this is not a sign of "delusional disorder". (8) How the suspect fits Ortega y Gasset's description of the "elite". (9) The suspect then turns to his meeting with RD on Thursday. About RD's claim that what he has suffered is "residual racism". By now he has sort of agreed with RD: it's because there is "racism" in the system that he couldn't beat the Secret Society women. How to explain this: in Los Angeles, as one walks around, it doesn't seem that anyone would care whether one is black or white, and yet, as soon as one is caught up in the criminal justice system, being white or white female enables one to be on top of the system. Now he has realized: racism has two components: (a) the desire to remain dominant and (b) the fear for contamination (by inferior races). What has happened in the past decades is simply that, as white racism declines, white people's fear for contamination has disappeared, which explains why, under normal circumstances, one's race doesn't arouse attention and minority members can date whites. But white people's desire to be dominant remains, and this desire is carried on mainly by white females rather than by white males, which explains their control of the criminal justice system – and why black people remain highly disadvantaged in the criminal justice system. (Again, the suspect has overlooked the real cause for his disadvantages in American society – Homeland Security's warnings about him – all because he isn't allowed to know about these warnings.) W: "Does it explain Bill Cosby's situation?" The suspect: you can go back to the South in 1960s, and there was nothing which prevented a black man from raping white women. What decides racism is how the "system" responds to such an instance; the fact that a black man can rape a white woman is not indication that the black man is not disadvantaged by the system. (Excellent analysis in any case.) (10) The suspect wonders: is he supposed to escape? Is he going to be like Wen Ho Lee: getting help from Asian American organizations? Strangely, W suddenly responds: "What will happen to Lawrence if Donald Trump becomes the president? Maybe he will help you!" It seems that the Russians have instructed Homeland Security CO chief to instruct W to provoke the suspect to "move onto Trump" next. The Russians desperately want more famous people to become the suspect's "victims" in order to have more opportunities to verify the Homeland Security warning about him with a law enforcement agency.¹² The suspect however goes into his next topic: His conjecture about the Invisible Hand's plan might be correct after all: the CIA wants a program to reform white women. It would be strange that the Agency would want to reform the whole female population because of their own agenda, but this could help re-industrialize the United States which could solve the Dollar crisis. Now the suspect is on the right track – both the Invisible Hand and Best Mommy indeed plan to reform American white women's culture – but this is for a purpose which is at the moment beyond the suspect's imagination!¹³

Such is the conversation. Throughout, the suspect feels inhibited while talking. As you can imagine, this conversation is again evidence of the suspect's insanity to enable the Russians to lock up the previous ICJ trial for the time being while preserving the conviction of Homeland Security CO chief and NULND. Then, the suspect checks his website from Ackerman's computers. Then, Westwood Village. He will hop from coffeehouse to coffeehouse attempting to download videos (especially a video on PEGIDA) from Youtube. At Corner Bakery, he has succeeded in downloading it, and eats there. Then, Starbucks. After reflecting on W's provocation, the suspect posts on AVFM again on 12:52 AM:

I need help with today's episode as well. I still couldn't get around the same problem. Here is the intended "script" for today's episode:

Whatever be [the] SS women's current status with the suspect – whether they are currently having a case against him at law enforcement or are taking a break to enable the suspect to develop the delusion of still being gone after by them – the totality of the suspect's profile that has so far been established in all previous 16 cases is:

12 The Russians especially want Trump to become the suspect's "victim" because Trump, being decidedly pro-Russia, can be counted on to vehemently affirm that Homeland Security is right about the suspect. More on this, later.

13 Namely, Best Mommy is worried that, when the Macrosphere shall have been constituted with the Quantum Gravity Machine, few women would be exceptional enough to be qualified for going there. She wants to reform white women's culture in order to raise American women's intellectual and moral qualities.

Misogynist, white supremacist, anti-Semite, plagiarizer, computer-hacker, stalker, cyberstalker, anti-American terrorist, vandalizer (i.e. a misogynist terrorist who is prone to become obsessed with women, stalk them, and then vandalize their properties in order to terrorize them), violent, delusional, [paranoid] schizophrenic believing in his delusion that the women he is obsessed with are always involved in some government conspiracy to go after him by falsely reporting him to law enforcement, fond of violating women's privacy by spilling out their private information and slandering them online, sexually perverted and yet impotent and thus loving and hating white females at the same time, extremely malicious and pathologically deceitful (anti-social), habitually impersonating others on the Internet, constantly projecting his own negative characteristics onto the women he's obsessed with as if they were his scapegoats, a proud sympathizer of all illiberal political causes (all the right-wing, fascist and racist political parties and all the dictators around the world), and an agent of multiple hostile foreign powers here to destabilize the US (e.g. an agent sent by China and Russia and other hostile nations to the US to attack innocent women's properties, etc.).

And the suspect loves being this creature since it is breaking world-records at Guinness, and today he has thought that he'd better announce his love and support for Donald Trump at his usual men's rights' online forum in order to proudly demonstrate to the world just what kind of a creature a regular member of men's rights movement might be who supports the most popular presidential candidate of the Republican party.

So far so good. But, again,

Since the suspect is supposed to fictionalize, at night, what he has done and encountered during the day at men's rights' online forum, how is he supposed to fictionalize, at men's rights' online forum, his having announced, at men's rights' online forum, his love and support for Donald Trump? Again, he cannot just post one time to announce his support and then post another one below to fictionalize his having just posted his support, for he can only fictionalize and post one time at men's rights' [online] forum.

Please, PM better ideas to me. Anybody capable of solving this riddle gets a big kiss from me.

Again, the suspect is being sarcastic. He knows that the Secret Society women are demonizing him into a most disgusting bigot to whoever is willing to listen. He fears that people might believe it. But if he announces how he purposely tries to fit himself into this profile of a bigot – is sarcastic about it – then that would remove much of the substance in the Secret Society women's demonization. Besides, he wants to take stock of the totality of the demonic profile which the Secret Society women have so far constructed of him. Again, by describing it, he would have removed much of its realism. As you can see, he has at least correctly grasped the totality of the Secret Society women's demonic portrayal of him – except for the one characteristic that he is an agent of multiple foreign powers. What he doesn't think too much about is the essential work he has just performed for the Russians, i.e., developing an interest in Donald Trump so that, soon, the Russians may send Homeland Security to go warn the presidential candidate.

The suspect then checks Wen Ho Lee's website's source code. He still couldn't figure out where this "1" has come from. He works until 1 AM or so. Then he goes to sleep. This time he has avoided Heavenly Couture, and sleeps in front of the closed down pharmacy instead.

28 February (Sunday; SSW out 10 AM – 5 PM)

After almost 11 hours, the Secret Society women resume operation. 5:02 AM, they send a volunteer to the suspect's new domain: Talk Talk, London, UK,

2.96.213.228 - - [28/Feb/2016:06:02:38 -0700] "GET /scientificenlightenment1/hierarchyofneeds.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200 73443 "https://www.google.co.uk/" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.1) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Chrome/48.0.2564.116 Safari/537.36"

The eighth visit. Are the Secret Society women still trying to convince Authority Z?

Then, 9:58 AM, almost 5 hours later: shatel.ir. Tehran, Iran, 151.243.201.190 - - [28/Feb/2016:10:58:06 -0700] "GET /badvisits/5712-43.png HTTP/1.1" 404 557 "https://www.google.com/" "Mozilla/5.0 (iPhone; CPU iPhone OS 9_2_1 like Mac OS X) AppleWebKit/601.1.46 (KHTML, like Gecko) Version/9.0 Mobile/13D15 Safari/601.1"

This is the sixth visit since the resumption of operation. The third by the "Iranian Group". The previous two are the Kerman volunteer from 25 February, 12:50 PM, and the Bandar-e Anzali volunteer from 17 February, 8:08 AM. It would appear that the Secret Society women are still trying to convince Authority Z that the suspect is either cyberstalking using his visitors' log or constantly mistaking the visits to his website due to schizophrenia.

Then, almost 7 hours later, another visit to the suspect's new domain: 4:54 PM, home3.cgocable.net, Kingston, Ontario,

67.193.134.109 - - [28/Feb/2016:17:54:27 -0700] "GET /1/elementarystructures20.htm HTTP/1.1" 200 23408 "http://www.google.ca/url?sa=t&rct=j&q=&esrc=s&source=web&cd=25&ved=0ahUKEwiiw9aY4ZvLAhWEn4MKHdTDChs4FBAWCDMwBA&url=http%3A%2F%2Fwww.enlightenment1998.com%2F1%2Felementarystructures20.htm&usq=AFQjCNHZ_7qGaDtyqaFmsRhIwoIQ40GpPA&sig2=zXnhx1Uowp14RJChv5eong" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.1; WOW64; Trident/7.0; rv:11.0) like Gecko"

The first visit ever. It appears that the Secret Society women are still brainstorming how to convince Authority Z that the suspect's website is filled with plagiarized misogynist materials.

Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

Then, 4 hours later, another visit to the suspect's new domain: 9:02 PM, ocn.ne.jp, Saitama, Japan (near Tokyo.)

153.226.91.119 - - [28/Feb/2016:22:02:05 -0700] "GET /1/appendix.html HTTP/1.1" 200 76546

Plagiarism. Tonight, the Secret Society women are not taking breaks. Five and a half hour later, another visit to the suspect's new domain: 2:39 AM, dynamic.ziggo.nl, Houten, Netherlands,

83.83.18.46 - - [29/Feb/2016:03:39:53 -0700] "GET /scientificenlightenment1/hierarchyofneeds.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200 73443 "https://www.google.nl/" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.1; WOW64) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Chrome/48.0.2564.116 Safari/537.36"

The ninth visit. It would appear that the Secret Society women are getting so frustrated with Authority Z's dismissal of the Homeland Security warning that they have skipped breaks and even changed tactics and begun reporting on whole chapters. 5 visits in total today.

Now let's examine the suspect. He wakes up almost 8 AM. Peet's Coffee. Immediately, he sets out for Long Beach. There is a German Klön Talk meetup this morning. In Long Beach, the suspect rides the bus past his destination (all the way to Ximeno). He's somewhat upset. He rides the bus back to Redondo. The Library. The meetup turns out not to be so interesting at all. Very little German spoken. The suspect stays and works a little. He begins having problems with his Internet connection, even though there was no problem earlier. 2:30 PM, AVFM can't be loaded. Then, very slow. Then, other websites can't be loaded either. Eventually, he succeeds in posting on AVFM, but the connection is extremely slow.

I would like to revise yesterday's "script" a little bit.

The totality of the suspect's profile that has been established in all the previous 16 cases is:

Misogynist, white supremacist, racist toward Hispanics, anti-Semite, plagiarizer, computer-hacker, stalker, cyberstalker, anti-American terrorist, vandalizer (i.e. a misogynist terrorist who is prone to become obsessed with women, stalk them, and then vandalize their properties in order to terrorize them), violent, delusional, [paranoid] schizophrenic believing in his delusion that the women he is obsessed with are always involved in some government conspiracy to go after him by falsely reporting him to law enforcement, fond of violating women's privacy by spilling out their private information and slandering them online, sexually perverted and yet impotent and thus loving and hating white females at the same time, extremely malicious and pathologically deceitful (anti-social), habitually impersonating others on the Internet, fond of pretending to be intellectual and educated (a phony), constantly projecting his own negative characteristics onto the women he's obsessed with as if they were his scapegoats, a proud sympathizer of all illiberal political causes (all the right-wing, fascist and racist political parties and all the dictators around the world), an agent of multiple hostile foreign powers here to destabilize the US (e.g. an agent sent by China and Russia and other hostile nations to the US to attack innocent women's properties, etc.), and pretending to be homeless even though he has a ton of cash in his bank account.

Now remember that the suspect is [of] Chinese descent (hence a secret agent of China). Now the suspect also perpetually complains that the [American] criminal justice system is so sexist against males and racist against non-whites that the SS women (all liberal white women) can actually use district attorneys and law enforcement detectives as their personal "hit-men" to assassinate him whom they want to silence (because he is in possession of the knowledge of their past criminal conducts against him). This is how biased the system is! This however has enabled the SS women to also establish for law enforcement detectives that the suspect is a frivolous complainer of sexism and racism since he couldn't comprehend that the [women's] attempt to assassinate him is but the product of his schizophrenic delusion so that no issue about discrimination against him in the criminal justice system even exists and since he somehow believes that, when he is this bad, if other people complain about him, other people are being racist.

And so such a person proudly proclaims his love for Donald Trump, Putin, Marine Le Pen, China, the National Coalition for Men, the Koch brothers, etc., and his hatred for feminism, American liberal women, the Democrats, women's studies, etc. He loves his new profile so much that he even uses the above as his profile at a dating website.

The suspect is being sarcastic again. What is going on is that he feels that, yesterday, when he tried to take stock of the totality of the Secret Society women's slanders of him, he had left out a few characteristics. He feels compelled to add them in. Although his understanding of the current law enforcement investigation of him is inaccurate, he has guessed correctly the Secret Society women's false profile of him. (Except, again, for the characteristic of being a foreign agent.) When Authority Z reads this, they will presumably conclude that Homeland Security's warning about the suspect is completely bogus – the sarcasm has removed all substance in the warning and in the Secret Society women's testimonies. However, the Russians since last night must have been submitting the suspect's confessions ("... in order to proudly demonstrate to the world just what kind of a creature a regular member of men's rights movement might be..." and "And he proudly proclaims his love for...") into the ICJ as evidences demonstrating that the suspect indeed intends to use his (presumably true) status as a "terrorist" to do harm – which would provide them with continual justification for the preservation of the conviction of Homeland Security CO chief and NULND along with the lockup of the previous ICJ trial. Thus it might not actually be in the CIA's interest that the suspect should continually mock the Secret Society women's case. Is it they who are obstructing the suspect's Internet connection? The suspect leaves The Library 3 PM or so.

He would feel very sleepy the whole day. He's at Culver City, past 5:30 PM. He eats. Starbucks, 6:15 PM or so. The suspect wants to attend French-in-Mind, and yet Omar never shows up. The suspect calls him, and there is no answering. The suspect thus continues to work on "Political Correctness as Culture Industry". MST in the restroom. 8 PM, he's on bus 12, coming back to Westwood. He's not happy at all. He goes to sleep before 10 PM: across the street from Heavenly Couture.

29 February (Monday, virtually no visits)

After a break of almost six hours, the Secret Society women resume operation. 8:25 AM, TM Net, Shah Alam, Malaysia,

1.32.72.150 - - [29/Feb/2016:09:25:39 -0700] "GET /scientificenlightenment1/nostratic2.jpg HTTP/1.1" 404 632 "http://www.junglekey.in/search.php?query=Austric+languages&type=image&lang=en®ion=in&img=1&adv=1" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.1; WOW64; rv:44.0) Gecko/20100101 Firefox/44.0"

This is a visit to the non-existent 2011.com! 8:30 AM, the volunteer comes again:

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV
Lawrence C Chin
Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

This is the same visit as that seen on 11:31 PM, 18 December; 10:53 AM, 10 January; and 2:03 PM, 4 February. Amazingly, this would be the Secret Society women's only visit for today. While the German Lady is hosting her German Language Meetup tonight, this is presumably not the cause. It is quite evident that the Secret Society women are responding to Authority Z's skepticism as to whether the demonic website which the women claim is harassing them (2011.com) actually exists at all. The Secret Society women would therefore submit this Jungle Key search as evidence proving that 2011.com still exists. (It is the second time that they are submitting Jungle Key's search results to a law enforcement authority as evidence.) After this, the Secret Society women would stop their operation. They have to face the fact that no law enforcement authority is ever going to grant their wishes no matter how hard they work their "complaint industrial complex". Perhaps it's because the Russians have commanded Homeland Security CO chief to tell the Secret Society women: "Forget about Authority Z. We will remotely control the suspect to do something tonight so that you can open a new case at a different agency." Let's therefore examine the suspect.

He wakes up 7 AM. He's at Starbucks for his morning coffee. Then he goes to sleep by UCLA. He wakes up past 9:30 AM. He's at Starbucks again, to check his log. Then, 11:49 AM, he posts on AVFM again to revise his current understanding of the Secret Society women's false profile of him (he has completely forgotten in his previous postings about what the women have said about his website):

I would like to add a few more touches to yesterday's "script". The additions are marked in bold. The rest is the same as yesterday's.

The totality of the suspect's profile that has been established in all the previous 16 cases is:

Misogynist, white supremacist, racist toward Hispanics, anti-Semite, plagiarizer, computer-hacker, stalker, cyberstalker, anti-American terrorist, vandalizer (i.e. a misogynist terrorist who is prone to become obsessed with women, stalk them, and then vandalize their properties in order to terrorize them), violent, delusional, [paranoid] schizophrenic believing in his delusion that the women he is obsessed with are always involved in some government conspiracy to go after him by falsely reporting him to law enforcement, fond of violating women's privacy by spilling out their private information and slandering them online, sexually perverted and yet impotent and thus loving and hating white females at the same time, extremely malicious and pathologically deceitful (anti-social), habitually impersonating others on the Internet, fond of pretending to be intellectual and educated (a phony), constantly projecting his own negative characteristics onto the women he's obsessed with as if they were his scapegoats, a proud sympathizer of all illiberal political causes (all the right-wing, fascist and racist political parties and all the dictators around the world), an agent of multiple hostile foreign powers here to destabilize the US (e.g. an agent sent by China and Russia and other hostile nations to the US to attack innocent women's properties, etc.), pretending to be homeless even though he has a ton of cash in his bank account, and having a website that is full of (1) slanders and private information about the women he's obsessed with and the delusions he has developed about them; (2) malware; (3) US national security secrets he has stolen through hacking; (4) hard core pornography; (5) plagiarized materials; and (6) racist and sexist rambling, often in support of illiberal political causes, parties, and figures.

Now remember that the suspect is [of] Chinese descent (hence a secret agent of China). Now the suspect also perpetually complains that America's criminal justice system is so sexist against males and racist against non-whites that the SS women (all liberal white women) can actually use district attorneys and law enforcement detectives as their personal "hit-men" to assassinate him whom they want to silence (because he is in possession of the knowledge of their past criminal conducts against him). This is how biased the system is! This however has enabled the SS women to also establish for law enforcement detectives that the suspect is a frivolous complainer of sexism and racism since he couldn't comprehend that the SS women's attempt to assassinate him is but the product of his schizophrenic delusion so that no issue about discrimination against him in the criminal justice system even exists and since he somehow believes that, when he is this bad, if other people complain about him, other people are being racist.

And so such a person proudly proclaims his love for Donald Trump, Putin, Marine Le Pen, China, the National Coalition for Men, the Koch brothers, etc., and his hatred for feminism, American liberal women, the Democrats, women's studies, etc. He loves his new profile so much that he even uses the above as his profile at a dating website.

The suspect then eats lunch at El Pollo Loco. He then comes back to Starbucks. He writes, until 3 PM. Then, he's on the bus going to Chrysalis. Snacks and men's group. 6:30 PM, he's on the bus coming back to Starbucks, Westwood. He is very much stuck on writing his new essay "Political Correctness as Culture Industry". He is quite upset with it.

From 11 PM onward, he tries to sign up for volunteer work on Donald Trump's website. His Internet connection is slowing down tremendously. His website's visitors' log can barely be loaded. Is the Agency obstructing his Internet connection again? If so, it's presumably because the Agency does not want him to enable the Russians to use Donald Trump to save themselves in the ICJ. 11:26 PM, the suspect posts "I love this man" on Trump's Facebook page. He is not only responding to W's suggestion from two days ago. Somehow he feels that he has to do something to actively conform to the Secret Society women's false portrayal of him as a bigot.

1 March (Tuesday: the Secret Service; SSW out after 6:30 PM)

Now, last night, because the suspect has signed up the Trump campaign's volunteer list, he has "flagged the system" (given his status as a "terrorist stalker" on Homeland Security's watchlist). When the Secret Service (in charge of Trump's protection) accesses the terrorist databases, they see not only Homeland Security's warning about the suspect (which lists the Secret Society women as "expert witnesses") but also the TMU's warning about the Secret Society women (which denies that the suspect is really a "terrorist"). As usual, after the Secret Service has connected up with the TMU and the CIA trying to understand this confusing situation (two contradictory warnings), they call up the Secret Society women: "Can you provide us with more information about this suspect?" Their goal is to enable the Secret Society women to open a new case against the suspect with them so that they can verify for themselves whether these women are really a bunch of frauds such as the TMU warning has claimed and whether the suspect is really a "terrorist" in their sense. You can just imagine how excited the Secret Society women are. Unaware of the Secret Service's true intention (to catch them committing frauds), they begin reciting their established story ("He has become obsessed with us and stalks us and vandalizes our property to terrorize us...") and ask for the opportunity to report on this suspect's demonic websites in order to prove to the Secret Service that the Homeland Security warning in question has always been correct. They ask for "victim confidentiality" ("Let us report to you what devilish contents we see on his website. You musn't look at it yourselves in order to respect our privacy...") and the Secret Service pretends to grant them so.

The Secret Society women begin their operation very early in the morning. 8:07 AM, China Telecom Guangdong, Kunming, Yunnan,

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV
Lawrence C Chin
Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

This again! “He suffers from severe paranoid schizophrenia and believes a chip has been implanted in his brain. Look what we have found on this 2011.com: pictures of the brain-scanning machine which he has stolen from other websites!”

Then, 10:31 AM, or almost two and a half hours later: shatel.ir, Tehran, Iran. This is the same volunteer from yesterday morning, 9:58 AM. He is reporting on the same image.

151.243.76.143 - - [01/Mar/2016:11:31:52 -0700] "GET /badvisits/5712-43.png HTTP/1.1" 404 557

“Because he suffers from paranoid schizophrenia believing we are going after him, he thinks we have something to do with these visits and accuses us of gang-stalking him. He stalks us and then accuses us of stalking him! This is what we have found on his 2011.com.”

The Secret Society women must be talking to the Secret Service on and off throughout the morning. Then, 2:09 PM, about three and a half hours later, the Secret Society women send somebody to the suspect’s new domain: 104-59-2-242.lightspeed.sndgca.sbcglobal.net, Oceanside, California,

104.59.2.242 - - [01/Mar/2016:15:09:14 -0700] "GET /acad.html HTTP/1.1" 200 5088 "-" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.3; WOW64; Trident/7.0; TNJB; rv:11.0) like Gecko"

This is an important volunteer for the Secret Society women – we will see her all the way even in March and April next year.¹⁴ The Secret Society women have been spending the past six hours on and off feeding their stories about the suspect and his websites to the Secret Service, and now they ask this Oceanside friend to corroborate. They send her the link. Within 30 seconds, she goes to the front page.

part of some government conspiracy against him. He calls it ‘The Secret History of International Court of Justice’.... He has this delusion about some International Court trial... The Homeland Security warning is correct...”

Then, another three and a half hours later, on 5:42 PM: host-184-167-197-218.alm-co.client.bresnan.net, Alamosa, Colorado,

184.167.197.218 - - [01/Mar/2016:18:42:49 -0700] "GET /blogs/2014/07/02/my-perps-and-why-they-are-currently-targeting-me-part-ii/ HTTP/1.1" 404 667 "http://forum.prisonplanet.com/index.php?topic=260320.0" "Mozilla/5.0 (Linux; Android 4.4.2; RCT6773W22 Build/KOT49H) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Chrome/34.0.1847.114 Safari/537.36"

17 seconds later:

It appears that the Secret Society women have now moved onto those Prison Planet postings. “He goes on these online forums and spills out there his delusion about our forming a conspiracy to go after him. And he identifies us there in order to embarrass us and harass us. He then provides the links to those documents on his website where he expresses all his delusions about our ‘conspiracy’ to go after him... The websites are 2011.com and 1998.com... The Homeland Security warning is correct...”

Then, within an hour, the Secret Society women send another volunteer to the suspect’s new domain: 6:38 PM, 23-122-245-232.light-speed.frsnca.sbcglobal.net, Selma, California,

23.122.245.232 - - [01/Mar/2016:19:38:19 -0700] "GET /scientificenlightenment1/nostratic2.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200 42640 "https://www.google.com/" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.3; WOW64) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Chrome/48.0.2564.116 Safari/537.36"

“He has little talent and can’t draw. Look at this diagram. He’s uneducated and stupid, and he has plagiarized here. He likes to pretend to be talented and intellectual. He’s a charlatan. The Homeland Security warning is correct.” This is the last visit of the day. After this, the Secret Society women retire. They must be really tired, having worked a whole day long with the Secret Service.

Note that, some time today, the German Lady would post up on her Meetup webpage the pictures she has taken of her 24 February meetup. THIS IS THE FIRST TIME she has posted any pictures SINCE 2 JANUARY. She has stopped posting pictures because she doesn’t want the suspect to see them. But now that the suspect has come under the Secret Service’s investigation, she begins posting pictures again hoping that the Secret Service can intercept the suspect looking at them (“evidence” for his cyberstalking of the poor Secret Society women). The German Lady is ready for action.

Now let's examine the suspect. He wakes up past 6 AM (awakened by Village Ambassadors). Starbucks, coffee, and then he goes to sleep a little more in front of UCLA. He wakes up almost 9 AM. Starbucks again. 9:48 AM, he sends a message to Dina on Facebook. "Hi Dina, haven't talked to you for a while. Is it Super Tuesday? Which one do you like? Sanders or Clinton?" This is the first time the suspect has ever written a private message to her. Dina will certainly turn the message over to the Secret Service claiming the suspect has been obsessed with her for years and has been writing her unsolicited messages. Because Dina is pretending to be afraid of the suspect, she will never reply. The suspect then eats lunch at Corner Bakery. 11:35 AM, he sits down at a table back in Starbucks. A Hispanic-looking guy who is sitting nearby suddenly asks the suspect, "Are you a computer science major?" "No." "I am," the Hispanic guy asserts. It would appear that this is part of the Secret Society women's and Homeland Security's testing of the suspect for their new case with the Secret Service. They are trying to prove to the Secret Service that the suspect really is a computer-hacker. Thus the Hispanic agent tries to strike up a conversation with the suspect about computer matters, but the suspect ignores him. 2 PM, the suspect calls Father Bob. He hasn't volunteered at Urban Ministry for quite a while, and would like to resume. 2:30 PM, he is on the bus going to Urban Ministry. He arrives there before 4:30 PM, and works until almost 5:30 PM. Then he's at Starbucks, Vermont/ Prospect, past 6 PM. Almost 7 PM, he is going to the Forum. He sits by myself. Then Mike comes over to talk to him. Mike wants to know why the suspect seems "kind of down" lately. When the suspect reveals that he has kept himself away from people because he has discovered Angela has been working as an informant against him, Mike bursts into laughter. This is certainly because Mike himself is now working as an informant against him. Namely, since the Secret Service has just opened up an investigation of him, they see that Mike has been working as an informant on him for various agencies since a long time ago already and so ask him to work for them this time. Mike says he will talk to Angela about this. He then asks the suspect if he plans to leave town. This is certainly a question which the Secret Service wants to ask the suspect. The suspect replies in the negative. The suspect has his free dinner, and then leaves, almost 9 PM. He comes back to Starbucks, Westwood. Almost midnight, when he is ready to post on AVFM, a black guy comes to sit next to him. He asks him what books he is reading. It's not clear whether this black guy is also a law enforcement informant. The suspect thus posts on AVFM:

Okay, I have come up with today's episode for "The suspect and the SS women". Tell me how to revise it if it need be. PM me. I'll give you credits for it. Here is today's episode:

The election season has come. After the suspect signs up for Donald's campaign, the SS women find their opportunity again. They and their volunteers immediately link up with the Secret Service and sound the alarm: "He is a [paranoid] schizophrenic, we are all frightened of him, he believes, in his delusion, that we are involved in some government conspiracy to go after him and making false reports about him to law enforcement." The SS women produce the warning about the suspect as a "domestic misogynist terrorist" which they have got their local police department to issue some time ago. The Secret Service begins listening to them, and the SS women and their volunteers begin making their usual false reports about the suspect to the Secret Service, demonizing him and psychoanalyzing him to their new audience. The SS women are all fired up, their pupils widen, for their life has no other meaning than demonizing the suspect and his website and psychoanalyzing him to whichever law enforcement authority has the ears to listen. They have been serving as the suspect's personal psychoanalysts [for law enforcement] for more than three years already.

Meanwhile, the suspect, by night, writes, on men's rights' online forum, his usual synopsis for the day's episode "The suspect and the SS women" whereby he fictionalizes his business with the SS women and law enforcement authorities. He thus writes on the forum that the SS women have begun sounding the alarm to the Secret Service and that his Chinese, Russian, Iranian, North Korean, and Bolivian intelligence bosses have instructed him to fictionalize the day's report. "Remember to add the line, 'Reminiscence of actual events is purely coincidental'," they told him. The suspect, thus, when finishing today's script, writes, "Reminiscence of actual events is purely coincidental."

That shall be today's episode, I think. If this episode is reminiscence of any actual events, it's purely coincidental.

You guys haven't helped me solve the previous riddle I had with the "script".

As you can see, the suspect this time has guessed the situation roughly correctly. He has indeed come under the Secret Service's investigation and the Secret Service has indeed linked up with the "SS women" – except that he gets the sequence of events wrong: it's the Secret Service which has accessed the warning about the suspect and the warning was issued by Homeland Security. You can just imagine how comical the suspect's posting must appear to the Secret Service. Their suspect has immediately noticed that he is under investigation – in fact he seems to have purposely run into the investigation – and then rambles BS about his foreign intelligence bosses. The Russians and their allies would certainly find here the evidences they desire: that the suspect is using his (true) status as a terrorist to do harm to them – while the CIA would argue that the suspect is using his (false) status as a terrorist to help the Russian side!

This afternoon, RD replies that he will not meet with the suspect again any time soon

2 March (Wednesday; SSW out after 6 PM; the German Lady's meetup)

After almost 13 hours, the Secret Society women resume operation. 7:32 AM, they send a volunteer to the suspect's new domain: pldt.net, Malasin, Philippines.

This is the first visit to this (existent) image since the Secret Service case begins. "He copies images from books and puts them on his website, in violation of intellectual property laws."

Then, 9:50 AM, KRN posts on her Facebook page, "electioneering is illegal..." The post is linked from change.org. Apparently KRN has just signed a petition on change.org, "Massachusetts attorney general Maura Healey: Arrest and prosecute Bill Clinton and John F. Mitchell. Violation of MA election laws." She is surfing change.org while awaiting communication with the Secret Service. This is KRN's first posting on her Facebook since 24 February. Perhaps she is waiting for the Secret Service to intercept the suspect "cyberstalking" her on Facebook, but the suspect wouldn't discover her new Facebook postings until 31 March.

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV

Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

Meanwhile, SDW has also posted a new post on her blog today: “Rent a stalker”. This is not a serious post, it’s about her suspicion that companies renting out “crowds” might be involved in gang-stalking. It’s her first post since 24 February. Perhaps her purpose is also to enable the Secret Service to intercept the suspect “cyberstalking” her on her blog. The German Lady, KRN, and SDW are all ready for action: they have certainly also fed the Secret Service with the same story: “When he imagines the women he’s obsessed with gang-stalking him, he will stalk them in return believing he’s defending himself, not knowing that the gang-stalking he has suffered is all in his mind.”

10:53 AM, the Secret Society women send another volunteer to the suspect’s new domain: 162-234-184-20.lightspeed.clmasc.sbcglobal.net, West Columbia, South Carolina,

162.234.184.20 - - [02/Mar/2016:11:53:17 -0700] "GET /gallery/perspective2.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200 45683 "https://www.google.com/" "Mozilla/5.0 (Macintosh; Intel Mac OS X 10_11_3) AppleWebKit/601.4.4 (KHTML, like Gecko) Version/9.0.3 Safari/601.4.4"

“He has plagiarized his theory on linear perspective!”

11:02 AM, KRN links a second post from change.org on her Facebook, “Dirty tricks will not help Ms Clinton win...” The original news piece on change.org reads: “Democratic National Committee: we demand the DNC rescind Clinton’s Massachusetts delegates due to breaking the law...”

Then, three hours later, the Secret Society women make their next move: 2:01 PM, static-dsl-59-87-197-117.telecom.sk, Slovak Republic,

87.197.117.59 - - [02/Mar/2016:15:01:29 -0700] "GET /badvisits/5712-43.png HTTP/1.1" 404 614 "http://www.google.sk/blank.html" "Mozilla/5.0 (Linux; U; Android 4.0.3; sk-sk; EVO3D_X515m Build/IML74K) AppleWebKit/534.30 (KHTML, like Gecko) Version/4.0 Mobile Safari/534.30"

2:06 PM, he comes again:

87.197.117.59 - - [02/Mar/2016:15:06:55 -0700] "GET /badvisits/5712-43.png HTTP/1.1" 404 614 "http://www.google.sk/blank.html" "Mozilla/5.0 (Linux; U; Android 4.0.3; sk-sk; EVO3D_X515m Build/IML74K) AppleWebKit/534.30 (KHTML, like Gecko) Version/4.0 Mobile Safari/534.30"

The women’s volunteer from Iran has just reported on this image yesterday. What is this about? Are they trying to reinforce their claim from yesterday that the suspect keeps mistaking the visits to his website, etc.?

Then, 2:12 PM, pool-108-7-148-51.bstnma.east.verizon.net, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

108.7.148.51 - - [02/Mar/2016:15:12:17 -0700] "GET /2012/92012-8.png HTTP/1.1" 404 609 "http://interpreteeg007.blog.163.com/blog/static/2060561642013628801821/" "Mozilla/5.0 (iPhone; CPU iPhone OS 8_4_1 like Mac OS X) AppleWebKit/600.1.4 (KHTML, like Gecko) Version/8.0"

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV
Lawrence C Chin
Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

Mobile/12H321 Safari/600.1.4"

Certainly another testimony for the Secret Service that the suspect, not knowing that he has imagined the whole thing out of his schizophrenic mind, believes firmly to have been implanted with a chip and is going online everywhere to talk about it. He even copies from others stories about “chips in the brain”.

The Secret Society women then take a four-hour break. Then, 6:10 PM, 75-168-120-42.mlps.qwest.net, Minneapolis, Minnesota,

75.168.120.42 - - [02/Mar/2016:19:10:22 -0700] "GET /1/sexdispositive.jpg HTTP/1.1" 404 613
"https://www.google.com/" "Mozilla/5.0 (iPhone; CPU iPhone OS 8_4_1 like Mac OS X) AppleWebKit/600.1.4 (KHTML, like Gecko) Version/8.0 Mobile/12H321 Safari/600.1.4"

This (non-existent) image is presumably more evidence that the suspect exhibits poor artistic skills and is prone to copy images from others to pretend to have artistic talents. There will be no more activities from the Secret Society women until past 3 AM, about 9 hours later. This might be due to the fact that the German Lady is hosting her meetup tonight from 6 PM onward. She would have to leave home 5:30 PM and be at Amigo restaurant around 6 PM. 7:45 PM, she would take the group to see Oscar Nominated Live Action Short Films.

Now let's examine the suspect. He wakes up past 6 AM, awakened by Village Ambassadors. He gets coffee, and then goes to sleep in front of UCLA. Almost 9 AM, he gets up, and rides the bus to Edelman. He meets with his case worker Armine and fills out all the necessary paperwork for section 8 housing. He then comes back to Starbucks, Westwood.

1:40 PM, he is smoking outside Starbucks. Then this “weird fat white guy” (always carrying nothing except his iPhone) walks out. He is wearing a pair of big earphones. The suspect remembers he has asked this guy the last time, when he was also carrying nothing. The suspect is convinced that this guy is a surveillance agent. From now on he will show up almost everyday. He is clearly a surveillance agent planted in this Starbucks, and the Secret Service is using him to run their investigation of the suspect. This “weird fat white guy” would be hanging around the suspect for the whole afternoon, until almost 5 PM.

The suspect works in Starbucks until 6 PM (doing his writings and reconstruction). Then, he goes to Ackerman. The TV lounge is closed. He continues to work there until 10:30 PM or so.

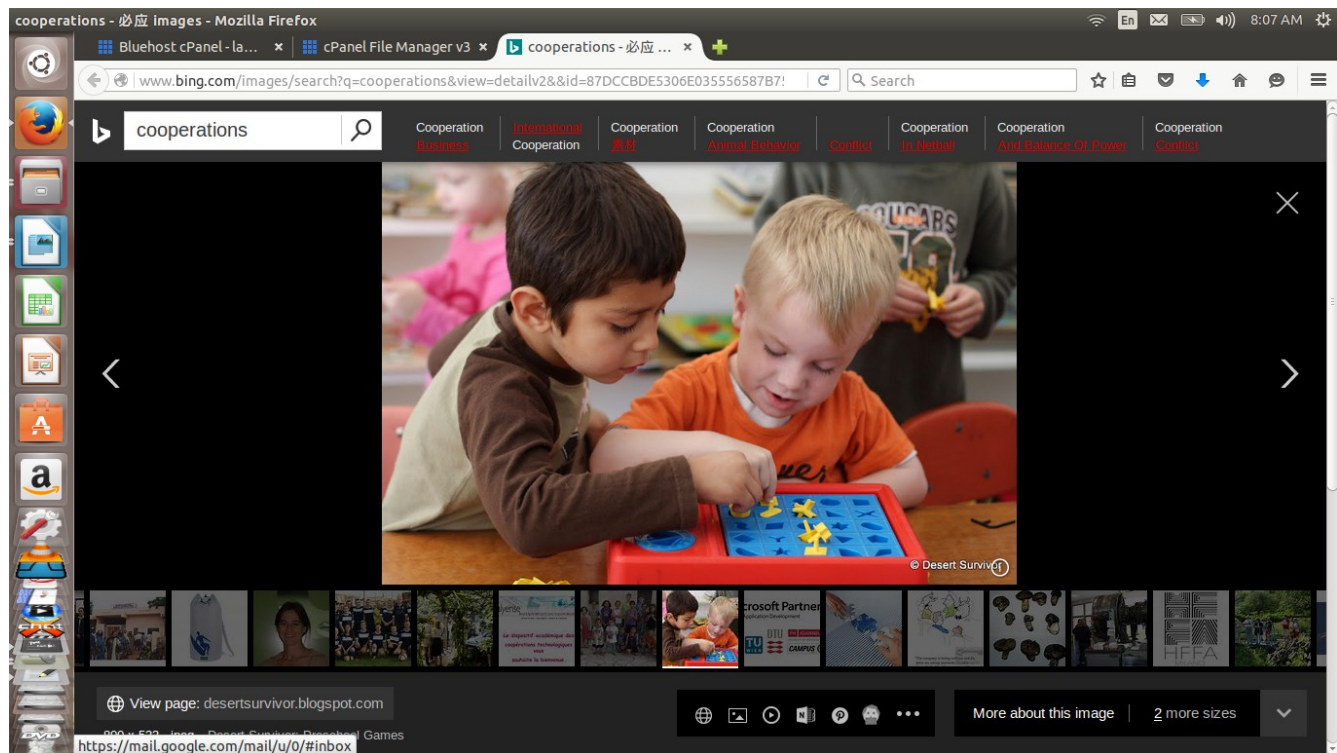

As noted, 3:18 AM, the Secret Society women resume operation: China Mobile Guangdong,

This is what the search looks like when the suspect duplicates it the next day:

The non-existent picture which the volunteer (another one whom the MSS has lent to the Secret Society women) has found is the one featuring the suspect's grandfather at a missile training session in Texas. It's not clear how one is able to find it on Bing with the search term "cooperations". Presumably the Secret Society women are now telling the Secret Service, "He puts his family members' private pictures on his website in violation of their privacy..." or "He steals other people's family pictures and puts them on his website..." And thus, "He uses his website, 2011.com, to violate other people's privacy..."

3 March (Thursday; SSW after 4 PM)

After more than six hours, the Secret Society women continue: 9:42 AM, they send a volunteer to the suspect's new domain: jjc.edu, Joliet, Illinois.

This is Joliet Junior College, a community college in Joliet, Illinois. Very close to Chicago. Apparently, the Secret Society women want a college student to offer another testimony about the suspect's plagiarism: "Sir, I'm a physics student at Joliet Junior college, and I can attest to this, he is plagiarizing!"

Then, almost another three hours later, 12:24 PM, depaulsecure-student.depaul.edu, Depaul University, Chicago, Illinois,

Is this merely to confirm the 6:10 PM false report from yesterday? "Sir, I'm a student at Depaul University, and I can attest to this, he has indeed copied the diagram from..."

Then, 1:59 PM, it's the Korean scout:

Then, 4:09 PM, the Secret Society women send another volunteer to the suspect's new domain: bois.qwest.net, Boise, Idaho,¹⁵

63.155.41.31 - - [03/Mar/2016:17:09:59 -0700] "GET /scientificenlightenment1/americanlanguagefamilies.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200 145649

"He has copied this image from Merritt Ruhlen's book..." That's all for today. The Secret Society women have only offered three more testimonies today about the suspect's demonic website: it's filled with plagiarized materials.

Let's now examine the suspect. He drags his big suit case to the storage facility. He arrives there about noon. He puts in the suit case. Very fatigue. Very depressed too. All because he has run into an impasse with his "Political Correctness as Culture Industry" and there is little hope that good conclusion would come out of the Secret Society women's business. And he is just too tired of dragging the big suit case all the time. Then, Chrysalis, and he meets with Tanisha. He continues to complain about the Secret Society women. Tanisha has no reaction at all, which makes the suspect wonder whether she has been alerted by Homeland Security about him. (It's of course quite possible that either the Secret Service or Homeland Security has already interviewed her about the suspect in regard to the latest case with the Trump campaign.) The suspect then stays at the Starbucks near Chrysalis. 4:30 PM, he posts on AVFM:

Today I merely want to add something to the previous episodes.

The suspect continues to suffer paranoia schizophrenia believing that the SS women and Homeland Security are going after him. In today's episode, he suffers thusly.

There are "go-betweens" between the suspect and the SS women. For example, both the suspect's best friend W and his friend RD serve as "go-betweens" between him and the SS women/ Homeland Security. For example, on Saturday, the SS women/ Homeland Security ask the suspect's best friend to give the suspect a message: "Hey, if Donald becomes the president, he'll save you." The day after, on Sunday, the suspect thus proudly expresses his endorsement for Donald on [...] men's rights' online forum (in a fictionalized format in which he describes a criminal and terrorist and foreign agent suspect endorsing Donald on a men's rights' online forum). Then, in the coming days, the suspect discovers secret messages inscribed on his visitors' log by people from China and Iran. You get the point.

And so the above is what the suspect, at night, writes on his usual men's rights' forum to fictionalize his paranoia delusion about the SS women and law enforcement authorities. He also explains that he is trying very hard to fit into the SS women's profile that he consistently mistakes the meaning of the visits to his website and mistakenly believes that the SS women are behind all the visits. He adds at the end: "The above is purely [fictional]. Any reminiscence of actual events is purely coincidental.

That's today episode, merely an explanatory episode. The above is purely [fictional]. Any reminiscence of actual events is purely coincidental.

It's not clear what the Secret Service will make of this post. They presumably don't actually believe that the suspect has anything to do with the Chinese and Iranian intelligence services. Since the "go-between" business is all but bullshit, the Russians can presumably use this as evidence to confirm Homeland Security's profile of the suspect as always falsely imagining the Secret Society women's intrigue behind his back. Then, the suspect has dinner at Chrysalis, and then he attends the retention group. He then rides the bus back to Starbucks, Westwood. Slight breakthrough with "Political Correctness...." He goes to sleep, 12 AM, across the street from Heavenly Couture.

4 March (Friday; probation; SSW out 7 AM – 10:30 PM)

After fifteen hours or so, the Secret Society women resume operation. 7:06 AM, they send a volunteer

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV

to the suspect's new domain: Jefferson Parish School Board, Metairie, Louisiana, 204.69.84.119 - - [04/Mar/2016:08:06:47 -0700] "GET /gallery/perspective1.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200 40580 "https://www.google.com/" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.1) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Chrome/48.0.2564.116 Safari/537.36"

Another one: "He has plagiarized his theory on linear perspective. Sir, trust my judgment, I'm a school teacher..."

Then, the Secret Society women take a long break during the whole day. Finally, 10:41 PM, or 15 hours later, another volunteer comes to the suspect's new domain: University of Tehran, Tiran, Iran,

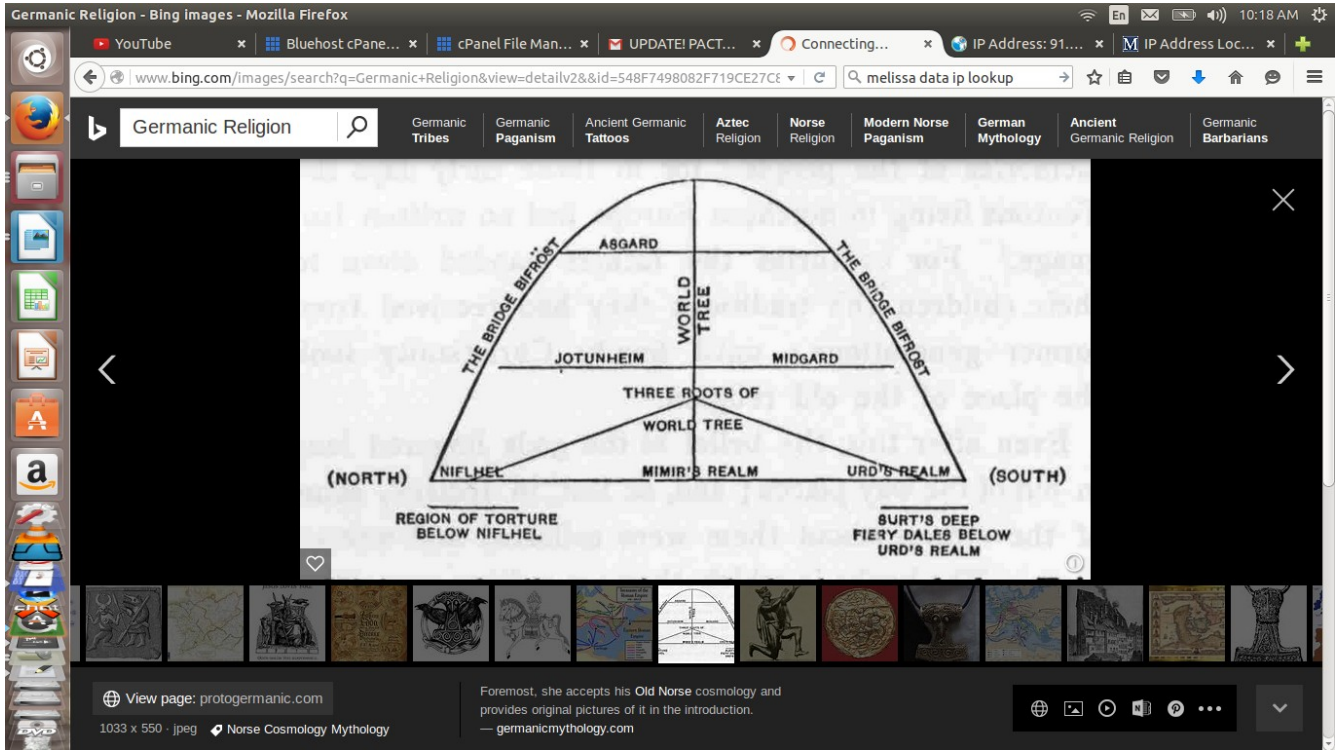

188.118.111.5 - - [04/Mar/2016:23:41:24 -0700] "GET /gallery/owl.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200 11579 "https://www.google.com/" "Mozilla/5.0 (Linux; Android 4.4.4; HTC One_M8 Eye Build/KTU84P) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Chrome/48.0.2564.95 Mobile Safari/537.36"

Merely to reinforce the 7:32 AM false report from 2 March? (The suspect's violation of intellectual property laws.)

Then, 2:09 AM, Baptist Memorial Health Care Corporation, Memphis, Tennessee,

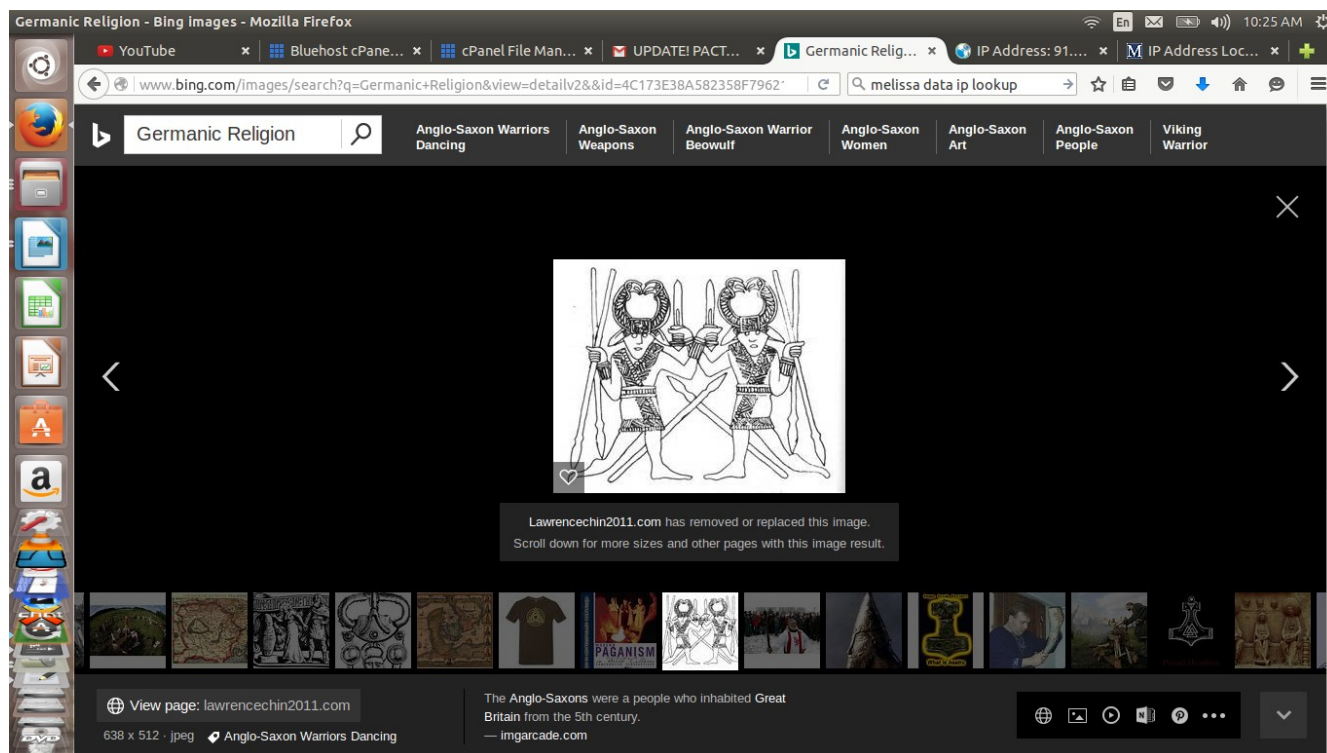

167.251.2.43 - - [05/Mar/2016:03:09:45 -0700] "GET /scientificenlightenment1/saxonwarrior.jpg HTTP/1.1" 404 634 "http://www.bing.com/images/search?q=Germanic+Religion&view=detailv2&&id=548F7498082F719CE27C8979B1B287AC1B70A832&selectedIndex=14&ccid=J6%2buKif8&simid=607988729450596716&thid=OIP.M27afae2a27fca4b4ed97a181e25d10edo0&mode=overlay" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.1; WOW64; Trident/7.0; rv:11.0) like Gecko"

The actual visit which created this log entry should look like this:

The third ICJ trial over the suspect, IV
Lawrence C Chin
Sept. 2016, rev. Nov. 2022

It's just another false report saying that the website which the suspect has developed to harass the poor Secret Society women, 2011.com, still exists and is filled with images copied from books, etc., in violation of intellectual property laws.

Then, 3:05 AM, the Secret Society women send another volunteer to the suspect's new domain: Hutchison Drei Austria, Vienna, Austria,

91.141.1.139 - - [05/Mar/2016:04:05:29 -0700] "GET /scientificenlightenment1/hierarchyofneeds.jpg HTTP/1.1" 200 73443 "https://www.google.at/" "Mozilla/5.0 (Linux; Android 5.1.1; SM-G800F Build/LMY47X) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Chrome/48.0.2564.95 Mobile Safari/537.36"

"He has copied this image from a psychology textbook and put it on his website." Thus the Secret Society women have today again offered four testimonies attesting to the suspect's plagiarism habit.

Now let's examine the suspect. Today he is supposed to go to the probation office for a financial evaluation. It will be a very difficult trip because the probation office chosen is in Arcadia. The suspect wakes up 6:30 AM or so. He rushes to El Monte station. The 178 bus for 8:30 AM never comes. But the suspect has already discovered that the appointment is on 11 AM. The suspect reads (Adorno and Horkheimer) while waiting. Then he gets on the 9 AM bus. He rides past his destination ending up in the middle of nowhere, he is scared, panicking and crying, and rides the bus to come back. He is no longer planning to go to the appointment, but, when he has discovered the right place, he gets off the bus. It is 10 AM then. He checks in at the Kiosk, but he can't do it, and so, utterly depressed, he cries, and is then helped by a lady. Then, the evaluation. He leaves 11:13 AM. The suspect rides the bus back to El Monte station. His AC charger is not working for a while. At the downtown library, and his AC charger is working. He rides the bus back to Starbucks, Westwood. The “weird fat white guy” (surveillance?) is here for the third time. He would be here past 8 PM. As always, he is not carrying anything, but is just standing around wearing his big earphones. The suspect works until 6 PM. He is then feeling better because he seems to have achieved more breakthroughs with his “Political Correctness...”. Denny’s. Afterwards, at Starbucks, and his laptop begins slowing down.

5 March (Saturday; continual operation throughout the day)

Between 6 PM last night and 3 PM today, SDW would post a new post on her blog. Not a serious one: “reblogged <https://wifepoisonedme.wordpress.com/2013/11/28/>”. Also, today the German Lady would post the pictures of her 2 March meetup on her Meetup webpage. This is the second time since 2 January. Both women are presumably still waiting for the Secret Service to intercept the suspect cyberstalking them.

After more than seven hours, the Secret Society women resume operation. 10:37 AM, they send a volunteer to the suspect’s new domain: ipcom.comunitel.net, Salamanca, Spain.

95.62.101.111 - - [05/Mar/2016:11:37:24 -0700] "GET /owl.JPG HTTP/1.1" 200 11579

This is the third visit to this image since the beginning of the Secret Service’s case. Merely reinforcement of the previous two false reports?

Then, 12:58 PM, the Secret Society women send another volunteer to the suspect’s new domain: Alabama Supercomputer Network, Florence-Lauderdale Public Library, Florence, Alabama.

207.157.56.29 - - [05/Mar/2016:13:58:28 -0700] "GET /scientificenlightenment1/aztec.html HTTP/1.1" 200 12493 "https://www.google.com/" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.1) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Chrome/48.0.2564.116 Safari/537.36"

This volunteer works out of a public library. First visit ever. Another false testimony about the suspect’s plagiarism.

The Secret Society women then take a five and a half hour break. 6:33 PM, they come again to the new domain: Latrobe University, Australian Academic and Research Network, Bundoora, Australia,¹⁶

131.172.64.199 - - [05/Mar/2016:19:33:32 -0700] "GET /cheneyplanintro/cheneyplanintrob.pdf HTTP/1.1" 200 478416 "https://duckduckgo.com" "Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 10.0; WOW64; rv:44.0)

The first visit to this document: "Because he suffers from paranoid schizophrenia, he keeps imagining famous people being involved in bizarre government conspiracies..." Did the Boss' family intervene to help Homeland Security by making their own complaint to the Secret Service as well? (This might be a sign that the Secret Service has begun expressing skepticism over the validity of the Homeland Security warning.)

Then, 7:54 PM, another volunteer comes to the suspect's new domain: tpgi.com.au, Carnegie, Australia. (Near Melbourne.)

27.32.233.86 - - [05/Mar/2016:20:54:21 -0700] "GET / HTTP/1.1" 200 3159 "-" "Mozilla/5.0 (Macintosh; Intel Mac OS X 10_11_2) AppleWebKit/601.3.9 (KHTML, like Gecko) Version/9.0.2 Safari/601.3.9"

It appears that the Secret Society women have simply sent him the link. (Recall the Carnegie volunteer from 22 February, 2014.) Within a minute, they direct him to click on the suspect's writing on the development of Russia's soft-power:

27.32.233.86 - - [05/Mar/2016:20:55:15 -0700] "GET /softappend/softappende.pdf HTTP/1.1" 200 162043 "http://www.enlightenment1998.com/" "Mozilla/5.0 (Macintosh; Intel Mac OS X 10_11_2) AppleWebKit/601.3.9 (KHTML, like Gecko) Version/9.0.2 Safari/601.3.9"

"He always believes we are part of some government conspiracy..."

Then, two hours later, 9:56 PM, another visit to the non-existent domain: Frontier Communications, Everett, Washington. (Near Seattle.)

50.35.115.112 - - [05/Mar/2016:22:56:19 -0700] "GET /scientificenlightenment1/asmatoles.jpg HTTP/1.1" 404 628 "https://www.bing.com/" "Mozilla/5.0 (Linux; Android 5.1.1; KFARWI Build/LMY47O) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, like Gecko) Silk/48.2.2 like Chrome/48.0.2564.95 Safari/537.36"

The Secret Society women have just reported on this image less than 24 hours ago. Is this to reinforce the previous report? Or decoy? A total of six visits today.

Now let's examine the suspect. He spends the morning in Ackerman. Spiegel TV: "Donald Trumps Kampf ums Weisse Haus"; and then the story of Tarek Belgacem ("Der Terrorist mit den zwanzig Identitäten"). Then, Ackerman Cafe. He creates a new Youtube account, specifically in order to complain about SDW's videos. Past 3 PM, he checks SDW's blog. He then dislikes (on the new account) many of her Youtube videos, and complains about her videos one more time. He is aware of the possibility that the control center might have wanted him to do this (induced such desire in his mind) precisely because he is now under the Secret Service's surveillance. The Secret Service, thus, did in the end intercept the suspect "cyberstalking" his poor women victims. But, of course, after seeing the TMU's warning about the Secret Society women, they are not going to take this seriously. By night, the suspect comes back to Starbucks, Westwood. He reads up on "political correctness". In the end, he checks the date for the California primary. Soon afterward, the weird fat white guy shows up. To verify that it's indeed the suspect who has checked up on Trump's information? Midnight, he goes to sleep. It's raining, and so he sleeps by the abandoned restaurant.

6 March (Sunday; W; only one visit: SSW out after 10:30 AM)

7:55 AM, it's the Korean scout – last time here on 3 March.

221.145.183.167 - - [06/Mar/2016:08:55:13 -0700] "GET / HTTP/1.1" 200 523 "http://24blocks.com" "Mozilla/5.0 (compatible; MSIE 9.0; Windows NT 6.1)"

10:26 AM, the Secret Society women send a volunteer to the suspect's new domain: dyn.optonline.net, Elmont, New York. (Near New York City.)

"He stole this drawing from his family members and put it on his website to pretend that it's his own work..." The reality, you recall, is the opposite: the suspect has sold this drawing to his aunt Jennifer, and now the Secret Society women are using it against him. This is the only report which the women would make today!

Now let's examine the suspect. He wakes up past 6 AM (awakened by Village Ambassadors). Starbucks. He reads more on "political correctness". Then he eats. Then he naps outside UCLA. 12:44 PM, W calls back. Here are the details of the conversation: (1) The suspect corrects himself: his theory about Wen Ho Lee is complete BS. The strange old white man with a travel book about New Mexico. Is somebody trying to tell him to get help from Asian American organizations? (2) The suspect did look up the Asian American organization which has helped Wen Ho Lee. (3) He needs to reconstruct, understand what the Secret Society women are doing, and do something to help them. (4) He has signed up for Trump's campaign, and has "flagged the system" as a "domestic terrorist". Thus the Secret Service's investigation. (5) The suspect gets regular emails from Ted Cruz's campaign. And yet he gets no emails from Trump's campaign. "They have also reported me as working for China, Russia, and Iran... I'm supposed to join Trump's campaign in order to discredit him... But he is in fact under protection from me..." (6) There is a contradiction in the Secret Society women's reports: while they claim he is a bigot just like Trump, they also claim that Trump needs to be protected from him. W: "Are you upset that the campaign didn't contact you?..." The suspect: "I'm supposed to join the campaign and discredit... But it's fun to volunteer for the campaign..." (7) The suspect speaks about his unwillingness to join the anti-gay and anti-abortion campaign: he has never had any opinions on these matters. But he needs to do something in order to become the bigot which the Secret Society women have wanted him to become. W: "You are a bigot without a cause!" The suspect: "Maybe my reason for joining anti-abortion campaigns can be to make women miserable, rather than 'God' or anything like that... Maybe I should seek out an anti-abortion campaign, then Homeland Security and the Secret Society women can interpret that as 'terrorist attack' on women..." (8) About David Duke's video to explain his endorsement of Trump. He sounds reasonable, but then his website is filled with anti-Semitic stuff. "In order to look more like a bigot, maybe I can join David Duke, but then all that anti-Semitic stuff scares me..." Then the suspect wonders: What's the point of all these false reports? The Secret Service has no cause to arrest me... (Here the suspect misses the essential goal: to get any law enforcement agency to validate the Homeland Security warning about him.) (9) About RD: he brought with him The Myth of Sisyphus. "There is no greater punishment than to make someone do something that is completely pointless." Does it refer to his reconstruction of the Secret Society women's operation? W: when you predict something, they'll hear it, and they'll change it. "This is not what I'm referring to. Why should I reconstruct everything if it will show up on the news later?" The suspect continues: maybe it's a message from the Secret Society women to discourage him from further reconstruction. The suspect then moans about how depressed he has been, how all his speculation has been incorrect. No government agency has had any plan to stop and expose the Secret Society women's operation. They could never get him arrested either. Like a trench warfare, it will go on forever – just like Sisyphus. Just as in Zeno's paradox, he will never be able to catch up. And everyday, he falls a little further behind. The Secret Society women's lying to law enforcement – it's not something which law enforcement cares about. They see law enforcement personnel as their personal assassins. The suspect: "We have broken all Guinness records, but it will never become public knowledge." All the world records he has broken. He is the most detested person in the history of the world. More than Hitler: the 10,000 people whom the Secret Society women have so far recruited all hate him more than they hate Hitler.¹⁷ (10) Should he write to Asian American organizations? He's a "graphomaniac". (11) About his latest essay to debunk political correctness. He is trying to transcend political correctness, but gets into an impasse. About the liberal white males' guilty complex. Ortega has said what he is saying... He hopes he wouldn't have to spend half of his time reconstructing.... (12) Why do many women support Donald Trump in the "red states"? He offends women only in the "blue states". The suspect wonders whether he should move to a red state. Here it's impossible for court personnel to believe that a guy could be a victim of girls... Would that be different in a red state? The Secret Society women have recruited a lot of people from the red states too... How could KRN have convinced the people there that she is a victim of the suspect's stalking? (13) The suspect is depressed because he finds it impossible to verbalize the Secret Society women's business. People don't have a functional brain and can't figure out the stories they have told everyone about him are all made up. How to explain why they are going after him? He didn't actually do anything. W: "You have been framed... You're a patsy... They are afraid of you... You are a threat to the Establishment..." The suspect: "The police don't actually care about the fact that they are making false reports..." W: "They don't realize that nobody cares..." The suspect: "They must do..." W insists that a government agency is always prone to make a threat out of nothing. Is W trying to give the suspect a hint about something? Or is he just bullshitting to go along with the suspect's belief system? The suspect: Homeland Security is carrying out their revenge against him under the color of law, and nobody can do anything about them. Again, the suspect doesn't know that it's all about preventing the CIA from reactivating the previous ICJ trial. The suspect then claims that the only thing he can do is to make use of it – and so he must try harder to seek out Trump's campaign and come under more investigation. He must seek out volunteer positions. When W explains what a volunteer does, the suspect's finger hurts. Then the conversation ends.

Evidently, as the Secret Service struggles to decide whether the Homeland Security warning about the suspect is valid – being told by the TMU and the CIA on one side that it isn't and by Homeland Security and the Trump campaign on the other that it is – everyone instructs W to call the suspect in order to have more evidence on which to make a decision. (1) It is possible that the Secret Society women are busy this afternoon analyzing the intercept of the suspect's conversation for the Secret Service – while forbidding the Secret Service from listening to it themselves. The Secret Service might have let them do that in order to catch them committing fraud again under "victim confidentiality". The Secret Society women will then present the suspect as expressing this bigotry and that misogyny. Meanwhile, the Secret Service will, behind the women's back, listen in on the suspect's actual words. After the Secret Service has heard the intercept of this conversation and watched the Secret Society women in action, they will certainly conclude that Homeland Security's warning is all bogus and that the TMU's warning is all correct. This will then be the CIA's evidence in the ICJ.

(2) The CIA and the Russians will then debate in the ICJ about whether the suspect's intention to use his "terrorist status" to do harm is genuine. The Russians will argue, assuming that the Homeland Security warning is correct and on the basis of the suspect's words which we have marked in red, that the suspect does intend to use his true status as a terrorist to harm Trump. The CIA will then presumably point out, on the basis of the suspect's words which we have marked in red and then italicized: See, he's purposely using his false terrorist status to help the Russians and their allies! Because he's a perennial Russia-lover!¹⁸ We must thus conclude that, after this conversation, not only does the Secret Service (a natural ally of the CIA) have reasons to dismiss the Homeland Security warning in question, but the Russians are also again in troubles in the ICJ.

Now, after the conversation, the suspect goes to Ackerman, but he immediately comes back to Starbucks. The weird fat white guy will be here all day and all night intermittently. Past 5 PM, the suspect rides the bus to Culver City to attend French-in-Mind. Omar never shows up. Again! The Polish guy is here again, then Miguel. 7:30 PM, the suspect comes back to Westwood Village. At one point, he looks up PD's information and website. The Secret Service will take note of it, but will then dismiss it. The suspect works until past midnight. And he signs up for the Trump campaign's volunteer list again.

Note that, today, AfD scores a major electoral victory in Germany.

7 March (Monday)

As we have seen, the Secret Society women were busy yesterday. They could be analyzing the suspect's conversation with his best friend. They could also be discussing something with the Secret Service. Today, however, they will resume operation on the suspect's website. 4:22 AM,

It would appear that somebody is looking at the suspect's non-existent website through Google Web Preview. But it could also be a robot.

Then, 6:13 AM, the Secret Society women send a volunteer to the suspect's new domain:
dynamic.adsl.gvt.net.br, Campinas, Brazil,

This is the second visit to this (existent) image since the case has been opened with the Secret Service. False testimony about the suspect's plagiarism to reinforce the previous one (from 5 March).

Then, 9:59 AM, KPN, the Hague, the Netherlands,

¹⁸ Beside that, the CIA can point out the suspect's true motivation: "It's his way to force us to eliminate his 'terrorist status'. It's a trick."

On 1 March, the Secret Society women have already explained to the Secret Service how the suspect has harassed them by spilling out his delusion about them on Prison Planet Forum and identifying them there. Somehow, they feel this morning the need to refine their story: how the suspect also mixes in there his delusion about being implanted with electronic devices. While instructing their volunteer to falsely report seeing confirmation of this refined story on these Prison Planet Forum postings, they click on the links in order to provide false confirmation that 2011.com still exists – that the suspect is indeed using his 2011.com to harass the Secret Society women.

10:43 AM, the Secret Society women send another volunteer to do the same false confirmation: c-73-233-134-42.hsd1.pa.comcast.net, Bensalem, Pennsylvania. (Near Philadelphia.)

There would be no activities from the Secret Society women for the next 7 hours. It's probably because the Secret Service has expressed inclination to dismiss the Homeland Security warning that the women suddenly scramble three volunteers this morning to confirm for them that the suspect does plagiarize, does imagine them going after him, and does believe he's chipped in the brain.

The effort this morning must have failed to change the Secret Service's mind. Toward the evening, 6:14 PM, the Secret Society women send another volunteer to make the same confirmation: pa.nsw.optusnet.com.au, Optus Wireless, Sydney, Australia, That's all for today. The Secret Society women will retire for the rest of the night until 3 AM.

Now, let's consider the suspect. He wakes up 6 AM, awakened by Village Ambassadors. It's still raining. Starbucks. Immediately, he goes to downtown. He is going to try out Saint Cardinal which Tanisha has suggested. Nevertheless, he is 10 minutes late for orientation. He's told there will be lunch at 10:30 AM, and instructed to come back 1 PM for orientation. The suspect goes to the public library, but it is not yet open. Coffee Bean. The suspect comes back to Saint Cardinal, 10:15 AM. The lunch is no good. The suspect goes to Chrysalis: still no mails for him. He is waiting for his paycheck from World Race. He then wants to buy a new backpack in the shops, but none is good. The suspect then comes to Bru-Coffee. He naps outside, and then works on "Political Correctness". The suspect comes back to Chrysalis, past 4 PM. He has snacks and joins the group discussion. 5:30 PM, he is going back to Westwood. Starbucks. All the visits he sees on his log makes him nervous. He wants to post more on AVFM. He then looks through "Get involved" and "schedule" on Trump's website. No mention of any events in California. Minutes later, 10 PM or so, just when he is about to post on AVFM, a mean black man comes to sit near him with his laptop. Is it the Secret Service's surveillance? Or Homeland Security's? The suspect posts:

Here is today's episode: the suspect and the SS women.

The suspect, wishing to learn about the election process during this election season, has signed up nominee TRN's campaign volunteer list. It will be fun, he thinks. The campaign managers however become concerned because the suspect, whom the SS women and their Homeland Security friends have created as the most disgusting criminal suspect in the history of humankind, immediately flags the system. The campaign managers contact the SS women's group wishing to obtain more information about the suspect. All the volunteers who have clustered around the SS women begin reporting to the campaign managers saying that the suspect suffers [from] a particularly virulent [form of paranoid] schizophrenia believing that electronic devices have been planted inside his brain and that the women he's supposedly obsessed with are involved in a government conspiracy to go after him filing false reports about him to law enforcement.

The suspect, sensing this, by night, fictionalizes the above and writes it down on his usual men's rights' online forum, robotically performing his routine without knowing why. He of course remembers to add in the end: "Reminiscence of actual events is purely coincidental".

I shall not forget to add at the end of my script: "Reminiscence of actual events is purely coincidental". Please PM me for suggestions as to how to revise this episode.

This time the suspect has got his scenario pretty close to the truth. He then also reposts "Being gang-stalked by a group of women..." on another section on AVFM forum.

As you know, I have been serializing a TV script I'm writing elsewhere. I would also like to post this other narrative by "Anonymous". This is also for entertainment in the lounge area. I don't know whether the narrative is true or fiction or half true or half fiction or truth told to the best of the anonymous author's ability. It's just for fun.

The suspect then looks up "Trump on US-China relations". 11:30 PM, he goes to sleep by the abandoned restaurant.

Now, 3:16 AM, after a whole night of discussion, the Secret Society women resume operation: dsl.telesp.net.br, Sao Paulo, Brazil. This IP address is listed on Project HoneyPot (from 6 years ago).

It appears that the Secret Society women are just refining their story to the Secret Service, that the suspect, suffering from paranoid schizophrenia, always imagines people conspiring against him behind his back, and mistakes the visits to his website for nefarious activities coming from the women he is supposedly obsessed with.

8 March (Tuesday; D-Day)

10:17 AM, the Korean scout:

The last time was 6 March.

There will be no activities from the Secret Society women today until past 10 PM. Evidently, the women think that they have made a strong case against the suspect, and are waiting for the Secret Service's response. Little do they expect that the Secret Service has already decided against them. After a week of investigation, the Secret Service can already see that the TMU's warning is accurate and Homeland Security's false.

And so, late in night, the Secret Society women are in action again – after becoming aware of the Secret Service's unfortunate decision. 10:36 PM, pa.nsw.optusnet.com.au, Optus Wireless, Sydney,

This is the same volunteer who was here last night, 6:14 PM. Although his IP address has changed, it's the same user-agent. It's 5:36 PM in Sydney. Apparently, for the purpose of changing the Secret Service's mind, the Secret Society women have called up the same Sydney volunteer. They connect up the Sydney volunteer with the Secret Service and instruct him to go through every posting and every link on this key Prison Planet Forum thread reporting to the Secret Service what they have coached him to say he sees – this thread is the Secret Society women's key evidence against the suspect because, after all, this is the only place on the Internet where the suspect has explicitly identified the Secret Society women. This Sydney volunteer would be on this Prison Planet Forum thread until 11:30 PM or so, i.e. about one hour.

Meanwhile, around the same time, 10:37 PM, another volunteer is looking up one of the external links pages on the suspect's website:

11 PM, or 24 minutes later, the Sydney volunteer clicks on the second link on the thread. He is still reporting on the first posting in the thread:

While the Sydney volunteer is still talking to the Secret Service, the Secret Society women send another volunteer to submit another testimony concerning how the suspect has also used his 2011.com to violate his family members' privacy. By 11:30 PM, the Sydney volunteer has finished reporting everything. Presumably, just confirmation of the same thing: the suspect is obsessed with the Secret Society women, and, in accordance with his schizophrenic tendency to always develop bizarre delusions about the women he's obsessed with, has imagined the poor women to be involved in some government conspiracy against him, which even includes planting electronic chips inside his brain. He writes about it on his 2011.com, and here as well, and advertises his 2011.com here on Prison Planet Forum. These delusional slanders of the poor women have tremendously embarrassed them. It's part of the "terrorism" which the suspect has practiced against the Secret Society women, i.e. related to his vandalism of properties (the Law

Lawrence C Chin

Library) which have some vague relationship with one of the poor women. Thus, all in all, the Homeland Security warning about the suspect is all correct and should be honored.

You can in fact imagine that, while ANG is coaching the Sydney volunteer during this hour what to say to the Secret Service, the Secret Service is in fact secretly listening in on her conversation – in order to obtain more evidence confirming that the Secret Society women are a bunch of frauds. Every testimony is coached, and 2011.com doesn't even exist anymore. This is of course submitted by the CIA into the ICJ as evidence. The Russians would thus continue to be in troubles in the ICJ.

Now, let's consider the suspect. He wakes up almost 7 AM. (Awakened by a worker.) Starbucks. 10:30 AM, Ackerman, the suspect buys a new backpack. Spiegel TV. (Pierre Voegel.) Then, he's going to downtown. Storage, 1:50 PM. When he comes back to downtown, it's past 4 PM. He can't go to Chrysalis anymore. Starbucks, Vermont/ Prospect. Almost 6 PM, he researches on KRN. 6:18 PM, he also checks SDW's blog. The Secret Society women have been waiting for him to do these things, and yet the Secret Service doesn't give the slightest damn. (There is no "stalking" because the Homeland Security warning is deemed to be invalid.) 7 PM, the suspect is going to Forum. Mike ignores the suspect this time. Stephanie shows up. Nobody comes to talk to the suspect. The Secret Service has perhaps realized that sending informants to the suspect only tips him off while collecting nothing important. Meanwhile, the suspect gets very angry: he might have fallen into the Secret Society women's trap last night by posting on AVFM. (He's wrong.) He leaves, 9 PM. Back to Starbucks. The weird fat white guy is here tonight, wearing a pair of big earphones while carrying nothing as usual. 11:57 PM, the suspect begins posting on AVFM:

I need to revise the 29 February episode.

As the suspect tallies up the totality of his profile established by the SS women in all previous 16 cases, he gets:

Misogynist, white supremacist, racist toward Hispanics, anti-Semite, plagiarizer, computer-hacker, stalker, cyberstalker, anti-American terrorist, vandalizer (i.e. a misogynist terrorist who is prone to become obsessed with women, stalk them, and then vandalize their properties in order to terrorize them), violent, delusional, [paranoid] schizophrenic believing in his delusion that the women he is obsessed with are always involved in some government conspiracy to go after him by falsely reporting him to law enforcement, fond of violating women's privacy by spilling out their private information and slandering them online, sexually perverted and yet impotent and thus loving and hating white females at the same time, extremely malicious and pathologically deceitful (anti-social), habitually impersonating others on the Internet, fond of pretending to be intellectual and educated (a phony), constantly projecting his own negative characteristics onto the women he's obsessed with as if they were his scapegoats, a proud sympathizer of all illiberal political causes (all the right-wing, fascist and racist political figures and parties and all the dictators around the world), an agent of multiple hostile foreign powers here to destabilize the US (e.g. an agent sent by China and Russia and other hostile nations to the US to attack innocent women's properties, etc., as a way to advance these nations' misogynist agendas against American women), pretending to be homeless even though he has a ton of cash in his bank account, and having a website that is full of (1) slanders and private information about the women he's obsessed with and the delusions he has developed about them; (2) malware; (3) US national security secrets he has stolen through computer hacking; (4) hard core pornography; (5) writings he has plagiarized from others and artworks he has stolen from others and claimed to be his own; and (6) racist and sexist rambling, often in support of illiberal political causes, parties, and figures.

Now remember that the suspect is [of] Chinese descent (hence a secret agent of China). Now the suspect also perpetually complains that America's criminal justice system is so sexist against males and racist against non-whites that the SS women (all liberal white women) can actually use district attorneys and law enforcement detectives as their personal "hit-men" to assassinate him whom they want to silence (because he is in possession of the knowledge of their past criminal conducts against him). This is how biased the system is! This however has enabled the SS women to also establish for law enforcement detectives that the suspect is a frivolous complainer of sexism and racism since he couldn't comprehend that the SS women's attempt to assassinate him is but the product of his schizophrenic delusion so that no issue about discrimination against him in the criminal justice system even exists; and since he somehow believes that, when he is this bad, if other people complain about him, other people are being racist.

The SS women have by now successfully established for law enforcement that the suspect's [paranoid] delusion about their going after him and filing false reports about him to law enforcement has developed largely because, whenever somebody visits his website, he will mistakenly assume that it's the SS women who have sent the person to visit it in order to falsely report to law enforcement, for these women's sake, about seeing such and such nasty stuff on his website. Everyday the suspect imagines, out of his paranoia, that the SS women are making false reports about him to law enforcement. The SS women have very much impressed law enforcement by looking so terrified of the suspect's delusion about their being out to get him, and their being terrified is what has motivated so many strangers to voluntarily come to their aid. These volunteers used to follow the suspect from coffeehouses to coffeehouses keeping an eye on him to protect the SS women, although they don't do it anymore.

The suspect's perpetual false attribution of visits to his website to the SS women should also be included in the established profile of the suspect. The suspect daily engenders tremendous fear in the innocent women he has developed delusion about, as the SS women have emphasized for law enforcement.

And so the suspect, being known as such a creature, proudly proclaims his love for Donald Trump, Putin, Marine Le Pen, China, [the] National Coalition for Men, the Koch brothers, etc., and his hatred for feminism, American liberal women, the Democrats, women's studies, etc. He loves being the bigot he is known as. What is ironic is that Homeland Security has also established in official records a warning in regard to the suspect's sympathy for these illiberal political figures, namely that the suspect, like those delusional nutheads who stalk movie stars, easily develops obsession with them and can be of danger to them. Just as in the case of his attitude toward white women, when he feels love for a political figure, instead of trying to benefit his or her cause of bigotry, he might develop a sick desire to harm the cause. He is thus an unreliable bigot. Hearing this, the suspect not only does not get upset with Homeland Security and the SS women for portraying him thusly to everybody, he actually loves this profile of him, so much so that he even uses all of the above as his profile at a dating website. He is excited because he has truly set the Guinness World Records as the most disgusting criminal suspect in the history of humankind – and all he has ever really done is randomly [break] a few windows.

It's the same old evidence which the Russians need: "He is confessing in online forums how much he enjoys using his (presumably true) status as a terrorist to harm the political figures or entities for which he feels sympathy..." On the other hand, the suspect's awareness of the essence of Homeland Security's warning about him only further discredits it for the Secret Service, and what is marked in red is definitely the CIA's evidence in the ICJ that the suspect is only trying to fit into the Russians' claim in order to help them. The suspect sleeps across the street from Heavenly Couture tonight.
